Fighting and Writing Luise White, 2021-02-08 In Fighting and Writing Luise White brings the force of her historical insight to bear on the many war memoirs published by white soldiers who fought for Rhodesia during the 1964 1979 Zimbabwean liberation struggle In the memoirs of white soldiers fighting to defend white minority rule in Africa long after other countries were independent White finds a robust and contentious conversation about race difference and the war itself These are writings by men who were ambivalent conscripts generally aware of the futility of their fight not brutal pawns flawlessly executing the orders and parroting the rhetoric of a racist regime Moreover most of these men insisted that the most important aspects of fighting a guerrilla war tracking and hunting knowledge of the land and of the ways of African society were learned from black playmates in idealized rural childhoods In these memoirs African guerrillas never lost their association with the wild even as white soldiers boasted of bringing Africans into the intimate spaces of regiment and regime

Abdulai,2016-04-01 In African Centred Management Education Professor Abdulai looks critically at the failings of management education in Africa and how that has impacted growth and development efforts especially at this critical stage in the continent's positive growth and development trajectory He concludes that Africa's current positive economic growth cannot be sustained without a significant contribution from its human capital He adds that the outstanding economic record of Asian economies in recent decades dramatically illustrates how important human capital is to growth These countries lacking natural resources and importing practically all their energy requirements have grown rapidly by relying on a well trained educated and conscientious workforce Professor Abdulai believes that Africa too can sustain its current growth and development by effectively combining its abundant natural resources with its human capital to attain its economic development but this will require an African cadre of well trained managers at the helm of both private and public sector institutions For this to become a reality management education in Africa will have to play a significant role but the author argues that it cannot be effective by continually mimicking the West in the programmes it delivers It must come up with innovative and relevant pedagogy that will address the special challenges that the continent faces and deliver an African centred management education As well as pointing to the failures of management education in Africa Abdulai offers suggestions as to how to make management education really contribute to the education of Africans in order to sustain current and future development Kenya's Running Women Michelle M Sikes,2023-12-01 Since Pauline Konga's breakthrough performance at the 1996 summer Olympics in Atlanta the world has become accustomed to seeing Kenyan women medal at major championships sweep marathons and set world records Yet little is known about the pioneer generation of women who paved the way for Kenya's reputation as an international powerhouse in women's track and field In Kenya's Running Women A History historian and former professional runner Michelle M Sikes details the triumphs and many challenges these women faced from the advent of Kenya's athletics program in the colonial era through the professionalization of running in the 1980s and 1990s Sikes reveals how over time running became a vehicle for Kenyan women to expand the boundaries of acceptable female behavior Kenya's Running Women demonstrates the necessity of including women in histories of African sport and of incorporating sport into studies of African gender and nation building Mandell, Douglas, and Bennett's Principles and Practice of Infectious Diseases E-Book John E.
