AIDS in the World II Global AIDS Policy Coalition,1996 AIDS in the World Vol 1 published in 1992 was the first full analysis of mankind's global confrontation with this disease The AIDS scene however has been changing so rapidly that the need for a second volume was felt much earlier than expected In AIDS in the World II the authors extend the international comparisons from 38 countries to the entire world and show that the AIDS pandemic has become increasingly fragmented within the world population They present data that takes the discussion beyond the current understanding of the vulnerability of nations and communities to the worldwide spread of HIV engaging in a detailed exploration of the social strategies that have enabled individuals to avoid infection Mann and Tarantola chart a course into the future based on an incisive investigation of the global pandemic and response the crucial lessons learned from the first decade and their expert understanding of the scientific and social dimensions of the HIV challenge The authors explain how the variety of reactions to the pandemic has contributed to a more advanced awareness of our vulnerability to HIV AIDS and offer a blueprint for an expanded global prevention effort Intended to serve the information needs of all professionals involved in AIDS research and care this volume's accessibility and clarity of writing make it highly suitable for the general reader as well

Tourism, Philanthropy and School Tours in Zimbabwe Kathleen Smithers,2024-08-05

This book explores the phenomena of school tours and tourism It explores tensions of authenticity and artificiality in the school site being both a place of community learning and a spectacle for tourism consumption Through the example of a school in Matabeleland North Zimbabwe the book examines the act of a school tour whose main aim is to providing fund for the school It offers a unique interdisciplinary lens that examines both the school as a tourism destination and as a site of learning By drawing on these two fields the book provides insights into the tensions inherent in a school that is also a tourism destination This book will demonstrate to readers the tensions present in tourism partnerships with schools that include some source of philanthropic funding and unpack the complexities of tourism that draws on stereotypical cultural images It explores these tensions through the lens of school leaders students teachers and tourism personnel The book provides a major and unique contribution to the field of tourism studies and education It will be of interest to students and researchers interested in tourism studies sociology education philanthropy development studies and the Global South

Day 2022: Putting ourselves to the test: achieving equity to end HIV Diego Ripamonti ,Segundo Ramos León Sandoval,2024-10-29 Since HIV was first identified in the early 1980s we have had numerous scientific advancements to improve HIV prevention and treatment However there are still 38 million people currently living with HIV and a proportion of them have developed Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome AIDS The main issue with HIV and AIDs is inequalities the communities affected are disproportionately distributed among the Global South World AIDS Day takes place every year on the 1st of December and was founded in 1988 making it the first global health day to be established This year the theme of World AIDS Day is equality Tackling the inequalities surrounding HIV testing prevention care and stigma among marginalized populations is the only way to not fall behind the targets of the third sustainable development goal of ending the HIV AIDS epidemic by 2030

Accountability in education: meeting our commitments UNESCO,2017-10-30 The second edition of the Global Education Monitoring Report GEM Report presents the latest evidence on global progress towards the education targets of the UN Sustainable Development Goals With hundreds of millions of people still not going to school and many not achieving minimum skills at school it is clear education systems are off track to achieve global goals The marginalized currently bear the most consequences but also stand to benefit the most if policy makers pay sufficient attention to their needs Faced with these challenges along with tight budgets and increased emphasis on results oriented value for money countries are searching for solutions Increased accountability often tops the list The 2017 8 GEM Report shows the entire array of approaches to accountability in education It ranges from countries unused to the concept where violations of the right to education go unchallenged to countries where accountability has become an end in itself instead of a means to inclusive equitable and high quality education and lifelong learning for all The report emphasizes that education is a shared responsibility While governments have primary responsibility all actors schools teachers parents students international organizations private sector providers civil society and the media 0 3 have a role in improving education systems The report emphasized the importance of transparency and availability of information but urges caution in how data are used It makes the case for avoiding accountability systems with a disproportionate focus on narrowly defined results and punitive sanctions In an era of multiple accountability tools the report provides clear evidence on those that are working and those that are not Back cover

Cyclones in Southern Africa Godwell Nhamo,David Chikodzi,2021-09-28 Tropical cyclones in Southern Africa also known as hurricanes or typhoons in other regions of the world is a hot subject for academic research. This focus has been magnified by the need to consider tropical cyclones in the context of other global development agendas that includes the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and its inseparable 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), the Paris Agreement, the Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction, and Habitat III's New Urban Agenda. The ambitious SDGs challenge global and community leaders to make sure development addresses the nexus among poverty, inequality, and employment creation as well as care for the earth and its natural resources and biodiversity. The SDGs further present an agenda to eradicate hunger, bring quality education, and sustain water and sanitation. The infrastructure development, human settlements, sustainable consumption and production, climate change, biodiversity, and the ocean/blue economy agendas are also pitched. Lastly, the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development encourages partnerships on delivering various programmes and projects at all spatial levels. However, as tropical cyclones continue to make multiple landfalls and ravage Southern Africa and other parts of the world, the achievement of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development is threatened. To this end, this book addresses this gap by documenting the implications of tropical cyclones, drawing examples and case studies from recent tropical cyclones such as cyclone Idai and cyclone Kenneth that resulted in catastrophic impacts in 2019. The book comes as part of a series with three volumes. The other volumes include Cyclones in Southern Africa Vol 1: Interfacing the Catastrophic Impact of Cyclone Idai with SDGs in Zimbabwe and Cyclones in Southern Africa Vol 2: Foundational and Fundamental Topics. Given the foregoing, the book is suitable as a read for several professionals and disciplines such as tourism and hospitality studies, economics, sustainable development, development studies, environmental sciences, arts, geography, life sciences, politics, planning, and public health.

The Skills Balancing Act in Sub-Saharan Africa Omar Arias, David K. Evans, Indhira Santos, 2019-01-31. Despite strong recent economic growth, Sub-Saharan Africa has levels of economic transformation, poverty reduction, and skill development far below those of other regions. Smart investments in developing skills aligned with the policy goals of productivity, growth, inclusion, and adaptability can help to accelerate the region's economic transformation in the 21st century. Sub-Saharan Africa's growing working-age population presents a major opportunity to increase shared prosperity. Countries in the region have invested heavily in building skills; public expenditure on education increased sevenfold over the past 30 years, and more children are in school today than ever before. Yet systems for building skills in this population have fallen short, and these shortcomings significantly impede economic prospects. In half of the countries, fewer than two in every three children complete primary school; even fewer reach and complete higher levels of education. Learning outcomes have been persistently poor, leading to substantial gaps in basic cognitive skills, literacy, and numeracy among children, young people, and adults. The literacy rate of the adult population is below 50 percent in many countries; functional literacy and numeracy rates are even lower. Systemwide change is required to achieve significant progress. Multiple agencies at the central and local levels are involved in skills development strategies, making skills everyone's problem, but no one's responsibility Policies and reforms need to build capacity for evidence based policies and create incentives to align the behaviors of all stakeholders with the pursuit of national skills development goals The Skills Balancing Act in Sub Saharan Africa Investing in Skills for Productivity Inclusivity and Adaptability lays out evidence to inform the policy choices that countries will make in skill investments Each chapter addresses a set of specific questions drawing on original analysis and synthesis of existing studies to explore key areas How the skills appropriate to each stage of the life cycle are acquired and what market and institutional failures affect skills formation What systems are needed for individuals to access these skills including family investments private sector institutions schools and other public programs How those systems can be strengthened How the most vulnerable individuals those who fall outside the standard systems and have missed critical building blocks in skills acquisition can be supported Countries will face trade offs often stark ones that will have distributional impacts and a bearing on their development path Committed leaders reform coalitions and well coordinated policies are essential for taking on the skills balancing act in Sub Saharan Africa
