What Exchanges Wine In A Recipe:

Recipes and Reciprocity Hannah Tait Neufeld, Elizabeth Finnis, 2022-08-19 Recipes and Reciprocity considers the ways that food and research intersect for both researchers participants and communities demonstrating how everyday acts around food preparation consumption and sharing can enable unexpected approaches to reciprocal research and fuel relationships across cultures generations spaces and places Drawing from research contexts within Canada Cuba India Malawi Nepal Paraguay and Japan contributors use the sharing of food knowledge and food processes such as drying steaming mixing grinding and churning to examine topics like identity community based research ethics food sovereignty and nutrition Each chapter highlights practical and experiential elements of fieldwork incorporating storytelling recipes and methodological practices to offer insight into how food facilitates relationship building and knowledge sharing across geographical and cultural borders Contributors to this volume bring a range of disciplinary backgrounds including anthropology public health social work history and rural studies to the exploration of global and Indigenous foodways perceptions around ethical eating and authenticity language and food preparation perspectives on healthy eating and what it means to develop research relationships through food Challenging colonial heteropatriarchal and methodological divisions between academic and less formal ways of knowing Recipes and Reciprocity draws critical attention to the ways food can bridge disciplinary and lived experiences propelling meaningful research and reciprocal relationships and Coleridge to examine the idea of the minor author and how it is related to what we now call the Romantic canon. The case of De Quincey, neither a canonical figure nor a disenfranchised marginal author, offers a point of access to specifically Romantic problems of literary transmission and periodization. Taking an intertextual approach, Russett situates De Quincey's career against the works of Wordsworth and Coleridge, the essays of Lamb, Hazlitt, and other writers for the London Magazine, and discourses of ethics and political economy which are central to the problem of determining literary value. De Quincey's Romanticism shows how De Quincey helped to shape the canon by which his career was defined.
