What Scope On Paper Life Orientation 2014 December:

Towards an embodied science of intersubjectivity: Widening the scope of social understanding research

Ezequiel Di Paolo, Hanne De Jaegher, 2015-06-16 An important amount of research effort in psychology and neuroscience over the past decades has focused on the problem of social cognition. This problem is understood as how we figure out other minds relying only on indirect manifestations of other people's intentional states which are assumed to be hidden, private and internal. Research on this question has mostly investigated how individual cognitive mechanisms achieve this task. A shift in the internalist assumptions regarding intentional states has expanded the research focus with hypotheses that explore the role of interactive phenomena and interpersonal histories and their implications for understanding individual cognitive processes. This interactive expansion of the conceptual and methodological toolkit for investigating social cognition we now propose can be followed by an expansion into wider and deeply related research questions beyond but including that of social cognition narrowly construed. Our social lives are populated by different kinds of cognitive and affective phenomena that are related to but not exhausted by the question of how we figure out other minds. These phenomena include acting and perceiving together, verbal and non-verbal engagement, experiences of disconnection, management of relations in a group, joint meaning making, intimacy, trust, conflict, negotiation, asymmetric relations, material mediation of social interaction, collective action, contextual engagement with socio-cultural norms, structures and roles etc. These phenomena are often characterized by a strong participation by the cognitive agent in contrast with the spectatorial stance typical of social cognition research. We use the broader notion of embodied intersubjectivity to refer to this wider set of phenomena. This Research Topic aims to investigate relations between these different issues to help lay strong foundations for a science of intersubjectivity, the social mind writ large. To contribute to this goal we encouraged contributions in psychology, neuroscience, psychopathology, philosophy and cognitive science that address this wider scope of intersubjectivity by extending the range of explanatory factors from purely individual to interactive, from observational to participatory. NTA UGC NET Paper 1 Topic-wise 52 Solved Papers (2020 to 2004) 2nd Edition Disha Experts, 2021-02-04 NTA UGC NET Paper 1 Topic-wise 50 Solved Papers \(2019 to 2004\) Disha Experts, 2020-07-04 Innovation, Alliances, and Networks in High-Tech Environments Fiorenza Belussi, Luigi Orsi, 2015-09-16 Recent years have seen a growth in strategic alliances, mergers and acquisitions and collaborative networks involving knowledge intensive and hi-tech industries. However there have been relatively few studies looking at this form of collaboration as a strategy to drive firms' innovative performances. This book specifically focuses on the role of strategic alliances, MAs and innovation networks providing insights on if and how they contribute to boosting firms' innovation performances. The book has a double purpose. Firstly it investigates at an industry level the role played by the alliance MAs and networks in high-tech environments such as biotechnology, pharmaceutical, software and nanotechnology in creating, transforming and reshaping the dynamics inside and between industries Secondly it explores the impact at the firm level of factors such as cognitive distance management capabilities and relational and social capabilities on firms global innovation capacity measured as innovation quantity innovation quality and innovation novelty The book will be of interest to scholars working on the economics of innovation innovation management studies strategic management regional science and evolutionary economics among other areas

Constitutional Law for a Changing America Lee Epstein, Thomas G. Walker, 2019-01-09 A host of political factors both internal and external influence the Court's decisions and shape the development of constitutional law Among the more significant forces at work are the ways lawyers and interest groups frame legal disputes the ideological and behavioral propensities of the justices the politics of judicial selection public opinion and the positions that elected officials take to name just a few Combining lessons of the legal model with the influences of the political process Constitutional Law for a Changing America shows how these dynamics shape the development of constitutional doctrine The Tenth Edition offers rigorous comprehensive content in a student friendly manner With meticulous revising and updating throughout best selling authors Lee Epstein and Thomas G Walker streamline material while accounting for new scholarship and recent landmark cases including key opinions handed down through the 2018 judicial session Well loved features keep students engaged by offering a clear delineation between commentary and opinion excerpts a Facts and Arguments section before every case a superb photo program Aftermath and Global Perspective boxes and a wealth of tables figures and maps Students will walk away with an understanding that Supreme Court cases involve real people engaged in real disputes and are not merely legal names and citations
