Fundamentals of Software Startups Anh Nguyen-Duc, Jürgen Münch, Rafael Prikladnicki, Xiaofeng Wang, Pekka Abrahamsson, 2020-02-28. This book discusses important topics for engineering and managing software startups such as how technical and business aspects are related, which complications may arise and how they can be dealt with. It also addresses the use of scientific engineering and managerial approaches to successfully develop software products in startup companies. The book covers a wide range of software startup phenomena and includes the knowledge, skills and capabilities required for startup product development, team capacity and team roles, technical debt, minimal viable products, startup metrics, common pitfalls and patterns observed as well as lessons learned from startups in Finland, Norway, Brazil, Russia and USA. All results are based on empirical findings and the claims are backed by evidence and concrete observations, measurements and experiments from qualitative and quantitative research as is common in empirical software engineering. The book helps entrepreneurs and practitioners to become aware of various phenomena, challenges and practices that occur in real world startups and provides insights based on sound research methodologies presented in a simple and easy to read manner. It also allows students in business and engineering programs to learn about the important engineering concepts and technical building blocks of a software startup. It is also suitable for researchers at different levels in areas such as software and systems engineering or information systems who are studying advanced topics related to software business.

Entrepreneurship in Africa Ven Sriram, David Lingelbach, Tigineh Mersha, Franklyn Manu, 2020-11-16 It is now widely recognized that in regions like Africa for economic and other reasons the public sector has had to disengage and divest from many areas of the economy and allow private enterprise especially scalable start ups and new ventures to enter and flourish if economic development and employment are to grow There is however a training and education gap since entrepreneurship is rarely taught formally at African universities and when it is it is often approached from a Western perspective which may not be appropriate given that African environments are significantly different from most Western ones in terms of economic infrastructure and political considerations This book allows readers to understand the African entrepreneurial context by guiding them through the principal stages in the life of a new venture and offers approaches both Western and indigenous that can inform their entrepreneurial actions It concludes by examining some specialized topics including female youth and social entrepreneurship as well as real estate and technology Exercises throughout the book will enable readers to evaluate their motivations and preparedness for entrepreneurship and learn how to communicate a new venture s key features to potential stakeholders By focusing on the distinctive features of entrepreneurship in the African context and taking a conversational tone this is an informative and practical text that will be useful for students of Global Entrepreneurship and Business as well as actual and prospective entrepreneurs in the private non profit and public sectors
