

A woman with short, curly hair stands in the center of a lush green cornfield. She is wearing a white, off-the-shoulder blouse and a long, flowing orange skirt. The corn stalks are tall and vibrant green, reaching up to her shoulders. The sky above is blue with scattered white clouds. The title 'THE LONG SONG' is overlaid in large, white, serif capital letters across the middle of the image.

Contemporary British Novel Since 2000 James Acheson, 2017-01-17 Focuses on the novels published since 2000 by twenty major British novelists The Contemporary British Novel Since 2000 is divided into five parts with the first part examining the work of four particularly well known and highly regarded twenty first century writers Ian McEwan David Mitchell Hilary Mantel and Zadie Smith It is with reference to each of these novelists in turn that the terms arealist apostmodernist ahistorical and apostcolonialist fiction are introduced while in the remaining four parts other novelists are discussed and the meaning of the terms amplified From the start it is emphasised that these terms and others often mean different things to different novelists and that the complexity of their novels often obliges us to discuss their work with reference to more than one of the terms Also discusses the works of Maggie O'Farrell Sarah Hall A L Kennedy Alan Warner Ali Smith Kazuo Ishiguro Kate Atkinson Salman Rushdie Adam Foulds Sarah Waters James Robertson Mohsin Hamid Andrea Levy and Aminatta Forna Andrea Levy Jeannette Baxter, David James, 2014-03-13 Andrea Levy has emerged as one of the most significant and popular voices in contemporary black British writing both in the UK and abroad Drawing on a familial history of emigration her critically acclaimed novels including the multiple award winning Small Island attempt to bring a variety of voices to the representation of black experience in post war Britain This book is the first of its kind to be devoted to Levy's work Combining historical theoretical and textual perspectives the volume hosts a wide range of current critical approaches to Levy's fiction With chapters written by leading established and emerging scholars the book explores issues of literary form diasporic literature and cultural value the BBC TV adaptation of Small Island while also shedding fresh light on Levy's critically neglected early works The book also includes a new interview with Levy herself a timeline of her life chapter summaries as well as guides to further reading and online resources making this an essential companion to the writings of one of the most exciting voices in contemporary fiction Post-Empire Imaginaries? Barbara Buchenau, Virginia Richter, 2015-07-28 Empires as political entities may be a thing of the past but as a concept empire is alive and kicking From heritage tourism and costume dramas to theories of the imperial idea 1 empire sells Post Empire Imaginaries Anglophone Literature History and the Demise of Empires presents innovative scholarship on the lives and legacies of empires in diverse media such as literature film advertising and the visual arts Though rooted in real space and history the post empire and its twin the post imperial emerge as ungraspable ideational constructs The volume convincingly establishes empire as welcoming resistance and affirmation introducing post empire imaginaries as figurations that connect the archives and repertoires of colonial nostalgia postcolonial critique post imperial dreaming Matria Redux Tegan Zimmerman, 2023-06-23 In Matria Redux Caribbean Women Novelize the Past author Tegan Zimmerman contends that there is a need for reading Caribbean women's texts relationally This comprehensive study argues that the writer's turn to maternal histories constitutes the definitive feature of this transcultural and transnational genre Through an array of Caribbean women's historical novels published roughly between 1980 and 2010 this book formulates the theory of matria an imagined maternal space and time as a postcolonial psychoanalytic feminist framework for reading fictions of maternal history written by and about Caribbean women Tracing the development of the historical novel in four periods of the Caribbean past slavery colonialism revolution and decolonization this study argues that a pan Caribbean generation of women writers of varying discursive racialized realities has depicted similar matria constructs and maternal motifs A politicized concept matria functions in the historical novel as a counternarrative to traditional historical and literary discourses Through close readings of the mother daughter plots in contemporary Caribbean women's historical fiction such as Andrea Levy's The Long Song Edwidge Danticat's The Farming of Bones Paule Marshall's Praisesong for the Widow and

Marie Elena John's Unburnable Matria Redux considers the concept of matria an important vehicle for postcolonial psychoanalytic feminist literary resistance and political intervention. Matria as a psychoanalytic postcolonial strategy therefore envisions by returning to history alternative feminist fictions, futures and Caribbeans. Nathaniel Mackey, Destination Out Jeanne Heuving, 2021-06-01. In this first book of essays devoted entirely to Nathaniel Mackey's work, prominent critics respond to a major oeuvre that is at once affirmative and utopic, negational and dystopic. Drawing on multiple genealogies and traditions primarily from African and African diaspora histories and cultures, Mackey's work envisions cultural creation as cross-cultural, based in the damaging relationships of Africans brought against their will to the Americas and the resulting innovations of New World African literatures and music. This collection is organized through broad topics in order to provide entrances into his challenging work: myth, literature and seriality, music performance and collaboration, syncretism, synopsis and what saying. It engages Mackey's spiritual and esoteric disposition along with his attention to what Amiri Baraka called the enraged sociologies of Black music. In his manifesto Destination Out, Mackey describes his work as wanting to bid all givens goodbye and as centrifugal. It is also centripetal, manifesting a reflexive interiority that creates itself through recurring forms. Contributors: Maria Damon, Joseph Donahue, Rachel Blau DuPlessis, Norman Finkelstein, Luke Harley, Paul Jaussen, Adalaide Morris, Fred Moten, Peter O'Leary, Anthony Reed. Contemporary Fictions of Multiculturalism Michael Perfect, 2015-12-04. Contemporary Fictions of Multiculturalism analyses novels of the late 20th and early 21st centuries that explore ethnic and cultural diversity in London. It contributes to key ongoing debates in literary and cultural studies and in particular to debates over the status and relevance of multiculturalism today. The Transformative Potential of Black British and British Muslim Literature Lisa Ahrens, 2019-07-03. This study investigates power, belonging and exclusion in British society by analysing representations of the mosque, the University of Oxford and the plantation in novels by Leila Aboulela, Robin Yassin Kassab, Diran Adebayo, David Dabydeen, Andrea Levy and Bernardine Evaristo. Lisa Ahrens combines Foucault's theory of heterotopia with elements of Wolfgang Iser's reader response theory to work out Black British and British Muslim literature's potential for destabilising exclusionary boundaries. In this way, new perspectives open up on the intersections between space, power and literature, intertwining and enriching the discourses of Cultural and Literary Studies. London Labour and the London Poor Henry Mayhew, 1851. Song Beyond the Nation Philip Ross Bullock, Laura Tunbridge, 2021-05-20. This book challenges that assumption by exploring the ways in which song crosses national borders. Whether by incorporating foreign canons of poetry alongside native ones or conveying literature across linguistic borders through acts of performance, song functions as a means of translation. A Song for the Horses Kip Hutchins, 2025-10-21. As permafrost in Siberia continues to melt and the steppe in the Gobi turns to desert, people in Mongolia are faced with overlapping climate crises. Some nomadic herders describe climate change as the end of a world. They are quick to add that the world has ended before for Indigenous people in North Asia as waves of colonialism have left the steppe with a complicated web of apocalypses A Song for the Horses by K G Hutchins examines cases in which people respond to the pressures of climate change by drawing on cultural heritage to foster social resiliency Hutchins's ethnographic research spanning more than a decade provides a vivid and intimate portrayal of Mongolian life Musicians use the morin khuur or horse fiddle to engage with the subjectivities and agencies of nonhuman animals and other beings This work is a significant contribution to the posthuman turn in social sciences engaging with theories from prominent scholars such as Donna Haraway and Anna Tsing As climate change continues to impact communities worldwide this book offers a unique perspective on how cultural heritage can be mobilized to address environmental challenges providing valuable lessons for global efforts to build sustainable and resilient futures At the intersection of music environment and posthumanism A Song for the Horses shows how Mongolian musicians use cultural traditions to imagine and build toward alternative futures beyond climate change and neoliberalism Meta-functional Equivalent Translation of Chinese Folk Song Yang Yang, 2022-01-13 This book brings audiences the enchanting melodies passing down from generation to generation in the Zhuang community which are on the brink of extinction Specifically it sheds light on the origin evolution and artistic features of Zhuang folk song in the first place and then it shifts to their English translation based on meta functional equivalence through which the multi aesthetics of Zhuang folk song have been represented At length forty classic Zhuang folk songs have been selected and each could be sung bilingually in line with the stave This book benefits researchers and students who are interested in music translation as well as the Zhuang ethnic music culture and literature It also gives readers an insight into musicology anthropology and intercultural study The Music of China's Ethnic Minorities Yongxiang Li, 2006 China boasts many great musical traditions these traditions have made an indelible mark on Chinese culture that has been felt by every generation The Poetry of Li He Robert Ashmore, 2023-06-19 Li He 790 816 holds a place in China's poetic history somewhat outside the mainstream but in every generation of readers there have been those who have found his intense and often cryptic lyrical visions irresistibly fascinating and utterly without parallel He is renowned particularly for his lyrical reimaginings of song traditions from the ancient past and his premature death along with the otherworldly quality of many of his works led later readers to view him as the emblematic cursed poet whose fascination with ancient history with ghosts and with celestial and demonic beings seemed to presage the brevity of his own existence Li He's style and diction are often idiosyncratic and even hermetic and his work presents daunting challenges to readers wishing to follow the flights of his imagination or simply to construe the basic sense of his language This volume presents close translations of all of Li He's poetry in facing page format with the original texts with explanatory notes on literary and historical references and difficult points of interpretation along with endnotes briefly discussing textual variants and other technical matters Taken together these features will be a welcome aid to readers wishing to explore Li He's poetic worlds first hand Mongolian Film Music Lucy M. Rees, 2016-03-03 In 1936 the Mongolian socialist government decreed the establishment of a film industry with the principal aim of disseminating propaganda to the largely nomadic population. The government sent promising young rural Mongolian musicians to Soviet conservatoires to be trained formally as composers. On their return they utilised their traditional Mongolian musical backgrounds and the musical skills learned during their studies to compose scores to the 167 propaganda films produced by the state film studio between 1938 and 1990. Lucy M Rees provides an overview of the rich mosaic of music genres that appeared in these film soundtracks including symphonic music influenced by Western art music, modified forms of Mongolian traditional music and a new genre known as professional music that combined both symphonic and Mongolian traditional characteristics. Case studies of key composers and film scores are presented demonstrating the influence of cultural policy on film music and showing how film scores complemented the ideological message of the films. There are discussions of films that celebrate the 1921 Revolution that led to Mongolia becoming a socialist nation, those that foreshadowed the 1990 Democratic Revolution that drew the socialist era to a close, and the diverse range of films and scores produced after 1990 in the aftermath of the socialist regime.

The Final Film of Laurel and Hardy Norbert Aping, 2014-01-10. The remarkable story behind the planning, development and marketing of Laurel and Hardy's ill-received final film Atoll K has been little explored. Details on the script development, cast, crew, locations and even basic information on running times and release dates have been sketchy at best since the film's 1951 release. This work reconstructs the circumstances surrounding this unusual international co-production. Atoll K was a French-Italian film with English-speaking stars. Through lost documents detailing the film's production and funding, previously unreleased behind-the-scenes photos and a rare interview with French movie star Suzy Delair, the author explores the continuous changes to the film's script during its chaotic production and the final marketing of the film's many different versions. Atoll K was also released as Robinson Crusoe Island in the United Kingdom and as Utopia in the United States. Several appendices detail alternative sequences and cut scenes in various versions of the film and include French box office reports from 1951 to 1952 as well as a complete filmography.

A History of Twentieth-Century Music in a Theoretic-Analytical Context Elliott Antokoletz, 2014-03-14. A History of Twentieth-Century Music in a Theoretic-Analytical Context is an integrated account of the genres and concepts of twentieth-century art music organized topically according to aesthetic, stylistic, technical and geographic categories and set within the larger political, social, economic and cultural framework. While the organization is topical, it is historical within that framework. Musical issues interwoven with political, cultural and social conditions have had a significant impact on the course of twentieth-century musical tendencies and styles. The goal of this book is to provide a theoretic-analytical basis that will appeal to those instructors who want to incorporate into student learning an analysis of the musical works that have reflected cultural influences on the major musical phenomena of the twentieth century. Focusing on the wide variety of theoretical issues spawned by twentieth-century music, A History of Twentieth-Century Music in a Theoretic-Analytical Context reflects the theoretical-analytical essence of musical
