of trauma based on gender sexuality and race and trace the steps that women take to find safer ground from oppression Taking Flight examines the immigrant experience in contemporary Caribbean women s writing and considers the effects of restrictive social mores In the texts examined in Taking Flight culturally sanctioned violence impacts the ability of female characters to be at home in their bodies or in the spaces they inhabit The works draw attention to the historic racialization and sexualization of black women s bodies and continue the legacy of narrating black women s long standing contestation of systems of oppression Arguing that there is a clear link between trauma shame and migration with trauma serving as a precursor to the protagonists emigration Jennifer Donahue focuses on how female bodies are policed how moral racial and sexual codes are linked and how the enforcement of social norms can function as a form of trauma Donahue considers the relationship between trauma shame and sexual politics and investigates how shame works as a social regulator that frequently leads to withdrawal or avoidant behaviors in those who violate socially sanctioned mores Most importantly Taking Flight positions flight as a powerful counter to disempowerment and considers how flight whether through dissociation or migration functions as a form of resistance

The Oxford History of the Novel in English Simon Gikandi,2016-09-05 Why did the novel take such a long time to emerge in the colonial world And what cultural work did it come to perform in societies where subjects were not free and modes of social organization diverged from the European cultural centers where the novel gained its form and audience Answering these questions and more Volume 11 The Novel in Africa and the Caribbean since 1950 explores the institutions of cultural production that exerted influence in late colonialism from missionary schools and metropolitan publishers to universities and small presses How these structures provoke and respond to the literary trends and social peculiarities of Africa and the Caribbean impacts not only the writing and reading of novels in those regions but also has a transformative effect on the novel as a global phenomenon Together the volume s 32 contributing experts tell a story about the close relationship between the novel and the project of decolonization and explore the multiple ways in which novels enable readers to imagine communities beyond their own and thus made this form of literature a compelling catalyst for cultural transformation The authors show that even as the novel grows in Africa and the Caribbean as a mark of the elites mastery of European form it becomes the essential instrument for critiquing colonialism and for articulating the new horizons of cultural nationalism Within this historical context the volume examines works by authors such as Chinua Achebe Nadine Gordimer George Lamming Jamaica Kincaid V S Naipaul Zoe Wicomb J M Coetzee and many others
