The Milking Collection 1:

Human Milk and Lactation Maria Lorella Gianni, 2020-05-28 Human milk is uniquely tailored to meet infants specific nutritional requirements However it is more than just milk This dynamic and bioactive fluid allows mother infant signalling over lactation guiding the infant in the developmental and physiological processes It exerts protection and life long biological effects playing a crucial role in promoting healthy growth and optimal cognitive development The latest scientific advances have provided insight into different components of human milk and their dynamic changes over time However the complexity of human milk composition and the synergistic mechanisms responsible for its beneficial health effects have not yet been unravelled Filling this knowledge gap will shed light on the biology of the developing infant and will contribute to the optimization of infant feeding particularly that of the most vulnerable infants Greater understanding of human milk will also help in elucidating the best strategies for its storage and handling The increasing knowledge on human milk s bioactive compounds together with the rapidly advancing technological achievements will greatly enhance their use as prophylactic or therapeutic agents The current Special Issue aims to welcome original works and literature reviews further exploring the complexity of human milk composition the mechanisms underlying the beneficial effects associated with breastfeeding and the factors and determinants involved in lactation including its promotion and support Proceedings of the World's Dairy Congress ,1924

Renewable energy for agrifood chains Puri, M., Rincon, L., Maltsoğlu, I., 2021-09-14 This report presents a structured approach to identify and estimate the market size of specific renewable energy technologies that have the potential to be deployed across specific stages of the agri food chains More specifically the methodology first analyses the countries value chains and aggregates them into similar agri food groups when possible Once the groupings are defined the value chains are mapped out and the energy requirements across the different stages of the value chain are defined Specific renewable energy options are then identified for each value chain based on the energy demand and the process for which energy is required This structure then feeds into the calculation of the overall market potential by chain and the renewable energy type identified For this report the methodology is illustrated with the case of solar energy technologies that have the potential to be deployed across the agriculture value chains in Rwanda Radiological Health Data ,1962
