Rural Wealth Creation John L. Pender, Bruce A. Weber, Thomas G. Johnson, J. Matthew Fannin, 2014-06-05 This book investigates the role of wealth in achieving sustainable rural economic development The authors define wealth as all assets net of liabilities that can contribute to well being and they provide examples of many forms of capital physical financial human natural social and others They propose a conceptual framework for rural wealth creation that considers how multiple forms of wealth provide opportunities for rural development and how development strategies affect the dynamics of wealth They also provide a new accounting framework for measuring wealth stocks and flows These conceptual frameworks are employed in case study chapters on measuring rural wealth and on rural wealth creation strategies Rural Wealth Creation makes numerous contributions to research on sustainable rural development Important distinctions are drawn to help guide wealth measurement such as the difference between the wealth located within a region and the wealth owned by residents of a region and privately owned versus publicly owned wealth Case study chapters illustrate these distinctions and demonstrate how different forms of wealth can be measured Several key hypotheses are proposed about the process of rural wealth creation and these are investigated by case study chapters assessing common rural development strategies such as promoting rural energy industries and amenity based development Based on these case studies a typology of rural wealth creation strategies is proposed and an approach to mapping the potential of such strategies in different contexts is demonstrated This book will be relevant to students researchers and policy makers looking at rural community development sustainable economic development and wealth measurement

Public Service Operations

Management Zoe Radnor, Nicola Bateman, Ann Esain, Maneesh Kumar, Sharon Williams, David Upton, 2015-07-30 How do

policy makers and managers square the circle of increasing demand and expectations for the delivery and quality of services against a backdrop of reduced public funding from government and philanthropists. Leaders, executives and managers are increasingly focusing on service operations improvement. In terms of research, public services are immature within the discipline of operations management and existing knowledge is limited to government departments and large bureaucratic institutions. Drawing on a range of theory and frameworks, this book develops the research agenda and knowledge and understanding in public service operations management, addressing the most pressing dilemmas faced by leaders, executives and operations managers in the public services environment. It offers a new empirical analysis of the impact of contextual factors including the migration of planning systems founded on MRP, ERP and the adoption of industrial based improvement practices such as TQM, lean thinking and Six Sigma. This will be of interest to researchers, educators and advanced students in public management, service operations management, health service management and public policy studies.

Exercising Essential Statistics Evan Berman, Xiaohu Wang, 2016-12-30 Through the use of critical thinking questions and data based exercises, Evan Berman and Xiaohu Wang's Exercising Essential Statistics helps students apply the techniques described in Essential Statistics for Public Managers and Policy Analysts, Fourth Edition. This accompanying workbook gives students the opportunity to practice these techniques through hands on, carefully crafted exercises. Various examples are provided from human resource management, organizational behavior, budgeting and public policy to illustrate how public administrators interact with and analyze data. The workbook's CD includes seven data sets that cover a range of measures and applications available in SPSS, SAS, SYSTAT, Stata and Excel.

Community Action Leaders Beverly Bunch, Dalitso Sulamoyo, 2016-08-05 Nationwide, approximately 1,000 Community Action agencies advocate for the poor and provide diverse but critical services such as, but not limited to, emergency food and shelter, energy bill assistance, weatherization, education, job training, transportation, housing and health services. In the face of dynamic environments and shifting poverty needs, Community Action agencies are constantly seeking innovative ways to effectively address poverty in their communities while building their internal capacity to ensure sustained impact and outcomes. This book focuses on the major leadership roles and responsibilities of the Community Action leaders, the types of challenges they face and how they address those challenges, covering questions such as: How do Community Action leaders identify the needs of low income people and use that knowledge to tailor programs to meet those needs? In what ways are low income people involved in Community Action agencies, e.g. board or advisory council members, volunteers, employees, advocates? What are the advantages and disadvantages associated with their participation? How do the leaders and their staff assess and demonstrate the effectiveness of their organizations and programs? What challenges do they encounter in assessing and communicating performance? What approaches are Community Action leaders using to diversify their revenues? What are the advantages and challenges associated with those approaches? How are the leaders developing their staffs and preparing for leadership succession? How do the leaders benefit from an affiliation with state and national associations Through original and comprehensive research undertaken by the Center for State Policy and Leadership at the University of Illinois Springfield and the Illinois Association of Community Action Agencies IACAA this book is designed to inform and enhance leadership in Community Action agencies and other nonprofit or government organizations with similar missions It is written in a nontechnical manner and includes a chapter on the history and evolution of Community Action agencies for readers who are unfamiliar with Community Action and the War on Poverty It will be required reading for professionals working at the frontlines of income inequality as well as university professors and their students in the fields of public administration nonprofit management and social work
