For any literature project, trust Nonfiction Classics for Students for all of your research needs. A Study Guide for Rachel Carson's Silent Spring Cengage Learning Gale, 2015 Study Guide for Man, Nature, and Society Theodore W.

Pohrte, L. Jack Pierce, 1975 Problem Solving Questions in Toxicology: P K Gupta, 2020-10-19 The book provides easy-to-understand, diverse, specialized topics in toxicology using self-study questions and answers. The answers are in the form of text along with custom-made diagrams and explanations that help the student audience to understand and grasp the matter easily. It is written specifically as a study guide for the toxicology board and other examinations. Study Guide Supersummary, 2019-10-10 SuperSummary, a modern alternative to SparkNotes and CliffsNotes, offers high-quality study guides for challenging works of literature. This 42-page guide for Silent Spring by Rachel Carson includes detailed chapter summaries and analysis covering 17 chapters, as well as several more in-depth sections of expert-written literary analysis. Featured content includes commentary on major characters, 25 important quotes, essay topics, and key themes like "The Web of Life and Nature's Balance" and "Search for a Quick Fix." Study Guide George Karleskint, 1991 Research Ethics and Social Movements Kevin Gillan, Jenny Pickerill, 2016-04-14 What ethical challenges are faced by researchers studying social and political movements? Should scholars integrate their personal politics and identities into their research? What role should activists have in shaping the purposes or processes of social scientific research? How do changing political contexts affect the ethical integrity of a research project over time? These are some of the live issues of research ethics that face students and scholars whose research subjects are located in contentious political terrain. The contributors to this volume expose their own ethical thinking as they have met such challenges head-on. Each explores real dilemmas of ethical practice on the ground as they carry out research on social movements across the globe. Authors examining pro-democracy activists in Malaysia, sanctions breakers in the Gaza Freedom Flotilla, environmental health organisations in North America, and much else find that the narrow confines of Research Ethics Committees and Institutional Review Boards offer little guidance on the questions that really matter. They offer instead a demonstration of continual reflexivity that is both personal and political in its approach. This book opens up debate on research ethics, delineating key challenges and offering hopeful and practical ways forward for real-world ethical social science. This book was published as a special issue of Social Movement Studies.

No Family History Sabrina McCormick, 2009-07-16 No Family History presents compelling evidence of environmental links to breast cancer, ranging from everyday cosmetics to industrial waste. Sabrina McCormick weaves the story of one survivor with no family history into a powerful exploration of the big business of breast cancer. As drugs, pink products, and corporate sponsorships generate enormous revenue to find a cure a growing number of experts argue that we should instead increase focus on prevention reducing environmental exposures that have contributed to the sharp increase of breast cancer rates But the dollars continue to pour into the search for a cure and the companies that profit including some pharmaceutical and cosmetics companies may in fact contribute to the environmental causes of breast cancer No Family History shows how profits drive our public focus on the cure rather than prevention and suggests new ways to reduce breast cancer rates in the future
