Defense of Conciliar Christology Timothy Pawl, 2016-03-10 This work presents a historically informed systematic exposition of the Christology of the first seven Ecumenical Councils of undivided Christendom from the First Council of Nicaea in 325 AD to the Second Council of Nicaea in 787 AD Assuming the truth of Conciliar Christology for the sake of argument Timothy Pawl considers whether there are good philosophical arguments that show a contradiction or incoherence in that doctrine He presents the definitions of important terms in the debate and a helpful metaphysics for understanding the incarnation In Defense of Conciliar Christology discusses three types of philosophical objections to Conciliar Christology Firstly it highlights the fundamental philosophical problem facing Christology how can one thing be both God and man when anything deserving to be called God must have certain attributes and yet it seems that nothing that can aptly be called man can have those same attributes It then considers the argument that if the Second Person of the Holy Trinity were immutable or atemporal as Conciliar Christology requires then that Person could not become anything and thus could not become man Finally Pawl addresses the objection that if there is a single Christ then there is a single nature or will in Christ However if that conditional is true then Conciliar Christology is false since it affirms the antecedent of the conditional to be true but denies the truth of the consequent Pawl defends Conciliar Christology against these charges arguing that all three philosophical objections fail to show Conciliar Christology inconsistent or incoherent Die Teilnahmereitschaft an mobilen

and Family Relations Christian Lennartz, Richard Ronald, 2020-06-09 In this comprehensive volume authors from across the social sciences explore how housing wealth transfers have impacted the integration of families society and the economy with a focus on the renegotiation of the generational contract While housing has always been central to the realization and reproduction of families more recently the mutual embedding of home and family has become more obvious as realignments in housing markets employment and welfare states have worked together to undermine housing access for new households enhancing intergenerational interdependencies More families have thus become involved in smoothening the routes of younger adult members into and up the housing ladder While intergenerational support appears to have become much more widespread it remains highly differentiated across countries cities and regions as well as uneven between social and income classes This book addresses the increasing role that family support and intergenerational transfers in particular are playing in sustaining the formation of new households and the transition of young adults towards social and economic autonomy The authors draw on diverse international cases and a variety of methodologies in order to advance our understanding of housing as a key driver of contemporary social relations and inequalities Chapters 1 4 6 7 8 and 9 of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at <https://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Chapters 1 6 8 and 9 and a Creative Commons Attribution CC BY 4.0 license Chapters 4 and 7

Abortion Policy and Christian Social Ethics in the United States Mako A. Nagasawa, 2021-01-06 Today's Christian pro life movement has misplaced its priorities The issue of abortion is more complex than the movement often appreciates For a start Scripture is less clear about the moral weight of the fetus than we often think In fact early Christians took different positions on abortion because they also relied on different scientific sources about the unborn Furthermore Christian conservatives today do not acknowledge that in American history as today Christian stances on abortion were motivated by other political fears White Protestant Americans developed different state laws on abortion to accomplish anti immigrant goals in the North but anti black racism in the South That messiness impacts U.S. constitutional law including Roe v. Wade Meanwhile Scripture commissions God's people to confront socio economic factors that push abortion rates higher male privilege and the disempowerment of women the high cost of child raising the causes of birth defects the desire to care narrowly for just my children mistaken views about contraception and the culture wars and most of all poverty This book incorporates biblical studies church history science social science history and public policy to argue that we must not approach abortion policy primarily from a criminal justice standpoint as modern conservatives do but from a broad social and economic standpoint meant to benefit and bless all children
