Levine, Matthew H. Bowker, 2019-06-01 David Levine and Mathew Bowker explore cultural and political trends organized around the conviction that the world we live in is a dangerous place to be that it is dominated by hate and destruction and that in it our primary task is to survive by carrying on a life long struggle against hostile forces Their method involves the analysis of public fantasies to reveal their hidden meanings The central fantasy explored is the fantasy of a destroyed world which appears most commonly in the form of post apocalyptic and dystopian narratives Their special concern in the book is with defenses against the painful consequences of the dominance of this fantasy in the inner world especially defenses involving the use of guilt to assure that something can be done to repair the destroyed world Topics explored include the formation of internal fortresses and their projection into the world outside forms of guilt including bystander guilt and survivor guilt the loss of and search for home and manic forms of reparation Waking the Dead John Eldredge, 2016-09-13 Waking the Dead newly revised and updated

Joyce, Race and 'Finnegans Wake' Len Platt, 2007-01-11 Len Platt charts a fresh approach through one of the great masterpieces of twentieth century literature Using original archival research and detailed close readings he outlines Joyce's literary response to the racial discourse of twentieth century politics Platt's account is the first to position Finnegans Wake in precise historical conditions and to explore Joyce's engagement with European fascism Race Platt claims is a central theme for Joyce both in terms of the colonial and post colonial conflicts between the Irish and the British and in terms of its use by the extreme right It is in this context that Joyce's engagement with race while certainly a product of colonial relations also figures as a wider disputation with rationalism capitalism and modernity

The Multiverse as Theory in Postmodern Speculative Fictional Narratives Angélica Cabrera Torrecilla, Francisco Sáez de Adana, 2024-11-15 The Multiverse as Theory in Postmodern Speculative Fictional Narratives considers the concept of the multiverse beyond the immediacy of being merely an excuse or scenario for the development of stories instead positioning the multiverse as a theoretical method in which speculative fiction narratives can explore diverse issues to bridge ideas across cultural social and philosophical analysis Taking a cross cultural approach the book centres around the critical engagements that literary and media texts have with the representations of the multiverse beyond considering this subject as a mere rhetorical flourish or a passing fad A diverse and international team of authors engage with the multiverse from the point of view of other worlds understanding it not as the appearance of another independent world but as the collision of two or more different worlds into one of them From this key finding the multiverse encourages us to pay attention to the influence that fiction exerts on narratives and world building providing possible frameworks to rethink critical aspects of temporality space self society and culture in contemporary times This pioneering work will interest students and scholars working in the areas of media and cultural studies comparative literature popular culture studies speculative fiction and transmedia studies
