

I tie Bird in the trees and walk quickly back to Socks and unsnap his halter and let it drop. I'm in a hurry. There is a chance that he can endure more. I know that I cannot. I chamber a shell, sight quickly, and stop his struggle before he can respond to the sound of metal slipping against metal. He falls, kicks once, and is still. The gunshot's report echoes against the opposite side of the valley. A magpie starts up and will not stop his squawking.

The Land's Wild Music Mark Tredinnick, 2011-04-14 The Land s Wild Music explores the home terrains and the writing of four great American writers of place Barry Lopez Peter Matthiessen Terry Tempest Williams and James Galvin In their work and its relationship with their home places Tredinnick an Australian writer searches for answers to such questions such as whether it s possible for a writer to make an authentic witness of a place how one captures the landscape as it truly is and how one joins the place in witness so that its lyric becomes one s own and enters into one s own work He asks what it might mean to enact an ecological imagination of the world and whether it might be possible to see the work and the writer as part of the place itself The work is a meditation on the nature of landscape and its power to shape the lives and syntax of men and women It is animated by the author s encounters with Lopez Matthiessen Williams and Galvin by critical readings of their work and by the author s engagement with the landscapes that have shaped these writers and their writing the Cascades Long Island the Colorado Plateau and the high prairies of the Rocky Mountains Tredinnick seeks the spring of nature writing deep in the nature of a place itself carried in a writer s wild self inside and resonated over and over again at the desk until it is a work in which the place itself sings Moon Wyoming Carter G.
