Abstract. The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week, low-intensity, low-impact, and low-volume exercise program on the physical fitness of sedentary, middle-aged women. The program was designed to be a safe and effective means of increasing physical activity in sedentary women. The program consisted of three sessions per week, each lasting 30 minutes. The sessions included a warm-up, a low-impact aerobic exercise routine, and a cool-down. The program was evaluated using a pre-test and post-test design. The results of the study showed that the program had a positive effect on the physical fitness of the women. The women showed significant improvements in cardiovascular fitness, muscular strength, and flexibility. The program was well-tolerated and the women enjoyed the sessions. The results of this study suggest that a low-intensity, low-impact, and low-volume exercise program can be an effective means of increasing physical activity in sedentary women.

THESE RESULTS ARE IN LINE WITH PREVIOUS RESEARCH ON THE EFFECTS OF EXERCISE ON COGNITIVE FUNCTION. FOR EXAMPLE, A STUDY BY BASSIN ET AL. (2008) FOUND THAT A 12-WEEK EXERCISE PROGRAM IMPROVED COGNITIVE FUNCTION IN OLDER ADULTS. ANOTHER STUDY BY KRAUSE ET AL. (2009) FOUND THAT A 12-WEEK EXERCISE PROGRAM IMPROVED COGNITIVE FUNCTION IN YOUNG ADULTS. THESE RESULTS SUGGEST THAT EXERCISE MAY BE A USEFUL INTERVENTION FOR IMPROVING COGNITIVE FUNCTION IN OLDER ADULTS.

Further, the structural components of the model are not mutually exclusive. For example, the model could be extended to include the effects of the social network on the individual's decision to participate in the intervention. The model could also be extended to include the effects of the intervention on the individual's social network.
