Woodward,1990 Walking in Two Worlds Nancy M. Peterson,2006 The author tells the stories of twelve mixed blood women who steeped in the tradition of their Indian mothers but forced into the world of their white fathers fought to find their identities in a rapidly changing world In an era when most white women had limited opportunities outside the home these mix blood women often became nationally recognized leaders in the fight for Native American rights They took the tools and training the whites provided and used them to help their people They found differing paths medicine music crafts

Corrections: A History Erica Spiller,2021 Iowa began building its first prison before achieving statehood and women were sentenced to penitentiaries prior to the establishment of plans for their own housing Beginning in the mid nineteenth century incarcerated women transitioned through a series of institutions and confinement environments often as the result of persistent overcrowding underfunding discriminatory laws or practices or to make room for incarcerated men Early in Iowa s correctional history women disproportionately served time for crimes considered to be against public decency such as prostitution lewdness and incorrigibility Over time their conditions and crimes evolved but incarcerated women continually faced obstacles such as access to treatment and programming adequate facilities and opportunities for reentry and reform Author Erica Spiller dives deep into this intriguing history Muses, Mistresses and Mates Anna Suwalska Kōlecka,Izabella Penier,2015-06-18 The Muse is one of the oldest archetypes in human civilization and in the past was a representation of an idealized woman blessed with beauty and creativity and exerting irresistible attraction for many a man Nowadays in the wake of feminism the idea of the Muse seems a bit obsolete quaint or downright sexist and is said to enhance a vicious stereotype of the creative productive and active man and the passive submissive and docile woman However this book shows that this in fa
