Driving Decisions Sam Hind, 2024-08-08
Driving Decisions: How Autonomous Vehicles Make Sense of the World examines the phenomenon of autonomous driving and the ongoing complex, costly, and contentious quest to automate driving. Principally organized around the concept of algorithmic decision making, the book considers how different mapping, sensing, and machine learning (ML) dependent capabilities are gifted to autonomous vehicles through different kinds of technical work, from computer science students annotating visual data in industry-funded research centres to software engineers designing end-to-end ML models at autonomous vehicle start-ups. The book intends to complicate and question typical understandings of autonomous driving by going under the hood, challenging the technological determinism or decisionism that advocates offer of an inevitable fully automated future. Drawing on seven years of research in a range of empirical contexts, the book will appeal to scholars and students in the fields of science and technology studies, media studies, digital sociology, human geography, and mobilities and transport studies.
