

Skill: Introduction

Hidden is a film about how crazy society can be towards the superficial differences between people. Set in the background of apartheid-South Africa, it is the story of Sandra Laing (Sara in Four Seasons) and the way the colour of her skin decides how she is perceived in her world and how it limits what she can be and what she can do. Anthony Fabian's film is based on a real person, and manages to put at the heart of the influence on an individual's sense of identity and belonging the explicit clash with the real world Sandra Laing, illustrating how and where she fits in closely with the problems of struggling film. Hidden is a film that has clearly been carefully and intelligently researched and produced.

As the film opens, we meet an excited Sandra getting ready for her first day of attending her exclusive new school. We see her parents are loving and proud new-wealthy daughter and their son – all of adults are clearly white-skinned. Sandra is coloured; the parents did not know they had coloured ancestry in their past – however they bring her up as their beloved white daughter. They are proud to be white and expect their daughter to be treated with all the privileges of white people as they are her parents. It seems such an insignificant thing – the colour of one's skin yet it is the fundamental measuring-stick of racism and discrimination across societies all over the world. The irony of the film is that Sandra's parent's supported apartheid, on the political and social level that protected black and white people from mixing, yet the laws of apartheid classified Sandra as 'coloured' and she was excluded from the schools they wanted her to attend.

Throughout the film, Sandra experiences prejudice and rejection, and through it all she learns to stand up for what she really is and embrace her own strong sense of identity and belonging.

About Anthony Fabian

Anthony Fabian is a San Francisco born and much-respected producer and director of documentaries and music programmes with his company Screen Films. Hidden was his first feature film and it is essentially a biographic inspiration film. Although born in San Francisco, Fabian was brought up in Mexico, France and the United Kingdom. He graduated from the UCLA Film and Television school, and he worked mostly from Britain, having been awarded many accolades and awards. His film Hidden received more than 20 international music prizes.

Anthony Fabian first heard about Sandra Laing's story in 2000 and felt moved and compelled to make her story into a film. At the time, Laing was being harassed by the anti-fur lobby for the fur she had inherited, yet her white family had progressed. In speaking with Sandra and through the process allowed her to use the money from advances for the film and loan by South Africa 'When she was white', he has more confidence and set up a small business. Making the film proved a thing and daunting process, especially given the many locations in South Africa that were used and the often challenging weather.
