RNA

(1) What information level is a unit of nucleic acid that stores a sequence code for protein synthesis. The principle of "mating partners." The genetic information in DNA is transcribed into RNA, which is then translated into proteins in a process called the Central Dogma of Biology. It includes the flow of information from DNA to RNA to proteins and the variety of important functions in the human body.

(2) What DNA, RNA is composed of a string of bases of nucleotides. Nucleotides consist of a phosphate group, a sugar, and a nitrogenous base. The sequence of bases in a nucleotide chain determines the genetic code. The sequence of bases in a nucleotide chain determines the genetic code. The sequence of bases in a nucleotide chain determines the genetic code.

(3) There are three main types of RNA, each with its own unique function.

1. Messenger RNA (mRNA) carries the genetic information from DNA in the nucleus for creating a complementary strand of protein from the code on the DNA strand. Once this strand carries that genetic information, it leaves the nucleus and carries the instructions for making proteins in the cytoplasm (ribosomes) in the cell.

2. Transfer RNA (tRNA) also carries the genetic information from mRNA into a specific sequence of amino acids, which are the basic building blocks of proteins. tRNA carries a specific amino acid to the ribosome and transfers it to the complementary genetic code on the mRNA.

3. Ribosomal RNA (rRNA) is the site of protein synthesis and is a major component of ribosomes. Ribosomes join proteins and are found in the cytoplasm of a cell. Proteins are synthesized by the ribosome and the rRNA is the site of protein synthesis.
