by Emerson
Memoirs of Margaret Fuller Ossoli by Emerson
William Henry Charming and James Freeman Clarke was published in 1852
Passage of the Fugitive Slave Law in 1850 brought to a boil something in Emerson that had long been simmering
Concerned with slavery freedom and the future of the black population in America more than his public record had shown he now delivered himself of an outburst pained vitriolic ironic a more sustained response to a single issue than appears elsewhere in all his journals
In this latest move in a compounding national tragedy he could see only chicanery and deterioration the crumbling of America's moral fiber
He saw the Fugitive Slave Law in a larger context of a sick age like Tennyson and Arnold in England he lamented in moods of spite and chagrin the loss of faith and of an old world where political men of honor stood firm for the moral law
Most of his journal outburst went into his addresses
The Fugitive Slave Law 1851 and 1854
