Slide Rule. The Autobiography of an Engineer. [With a Portrait.]. Nevil Shute,1966 His Majesty's Airship S C Gwynne,2024-05-21 The tragic story of the British airship R101 which went down in a spectacular hydrogen fueled fireball in 1930 killing more people than died in the Hindenburg disaster seven years later has been largely forgotten In His Majesty s Airship historian S C Gwynne resurrects it in vivid detail telling the epic story of great ambition gone terribly wrong Airships those airborne leviathans that occupied center stage in the world in the first half of the twentieth century were a symbol of the future R101 was not just the largest aircraft ever to have flown and the product of the world s most advanced engineering she was also the lynchpin of an imperial British scheme to link by air the far flung areas of its empire from Australia to India South Africa Canada Egypt and Singapore No one had ever conceived of anything like this R101 captivated the world There was just one problem beyond the hype and technological wonders these big steel framed hydrogen filled airships were a dangerously bad idea Gwynne s chronicle features a cast of remarkable and often tragically flawed characters including Lord Christopher Thomson the man who dreamed up the Imperial Airship Scheme and then relentlessly pushed R101 to her destruction Princess Marthe Bibesco the celebrated writer and glamorous socialite with whom he had a long affair and Herbert Scott a national hero who had made the first double crossing of the Atlantic in any aircraft in 1919 eight years before Lindbergh s famous flight but who devolved into drink and ruin These historical figures and the ship they built flew and crashed come together in a grand tale that details the rocky road to commercial aviation written by one of the best popular historians writing today Everything Must Go Dorian Lynskey,2025-01-28 A rich captivating and darkly humorous look into the evolution of apocalyptic thought exploring how film and literature interact with developments in science politics and culture and what factors drive our perennial obsession with the end of the world As Dorian Lynskey writes People have been contemplating the end of the world for millennia In this immersive and compelling cultural history Lynskey reveals how religious prophecies of the apocalypse were secularized in the early 19th century by Lord Byron and Mary Shelley in a time of dramatic social upheaval and temporary climate change inciting a long tradition of visions of the end without gods With a discerning eye and acerbic wit Lynskey examines how various doomsday tropes and predictions in literature art music and film have arisen from contemporary anxieties whether they be comets pandemics world wars the Cuban Missile Crisis Y2K or the climate emergency Far from being grim Lynskey guides readers through a rich array of

Rules of the Game Andrew Gordon, 2013-02-21 Foreword by Admiral Sir John Woodward When published in hardcover in 1997 this book was praised for providing an engrossing education not only in naval strategy and tactics but in Victorian social attitudes and the influence of character on history In juxtaposing an operational with a cultural theme the author comes closer than any historian yet to explaining what was behind the often described operations of this famous 1916 battle at Jutland Although the British fleet was victorious over the Germans the cost in ships and men was high and debates have raged within British naval circles ever since about why the Royal Navy was unable to take advantage of the situation In this book Andrew Gordon focuses on what he calls a fault line between two incompatible styles of tactical leadership within the Royal Navy and different
