Business anthropology is an approach to the investigation of various phenomena in enterprises and management using anthropological methodology e.g. participant observations and interviews. Historically its origin goes back to the 1920s/30s. In the Hawthorne experiments the research group organized by Elton Mayo recruited an anthropologist Lloyd W. Warner and conducted research on human relations in the workplace by observation of participants. Since then similar studies have been carried out in the United States and the United Kingdom. In Japan however such research is quite rare. Now in addition to anthropological methods the authors have employed multidisciplinary methods drawn from management, economics and sociology. The research contained here can be characterized in these ways:

1. Research methods adopt interpretative approaches such as hermeneutic and/or narrative approaches rather than causal and functional explanations such as cause-consequence relationships.
2. Multidisciplinary approaches including qualitative research techniques are employed to investigate the total entity of enterprises with their own cosmology.

In this book the totality of activities by enterprises are shown including the relationship between religion and enterprise, corporate funerals, corporate museums and the sacred space and/or mythology of enterprises. Part I provides introductions to Keiei Jinruigaku and Part II explains the theoretical characteristics of Keiei Jinruigaku. In addition research topics and cases of Keiei Jinruigaku are presented in Part III.

Building Strong Brands David A. Aaker, 2011-11-08. As industries turn increasingly hostile it is clear that strong brand building skills are needed to survive and prosper. In David Aaker's pathbreaking book Managing Brand Equity managers discovered the value of a brand as a strategic asset and a company's primary source of competitive advantage. Now in this compelling new work Aaker uses real brand building cases from Saturn, General Electric, Kodak, Healthy Choice, McDonald's and others to demonstrate how strong brands have been created and managed. A common pitfall of brand strategists is to focus on brand attributes. Aaker shows how to break out of the box by considering emotional and self-expressive benefits and by introducing the brand as person, brand as organization and brand as symbol perspectives. The twin concepts of brand identity, the brand image that brand strategists aspire to create or maintain, and brand position, that part of the brand identity that is to be actively communicated, play a key role in managing the out of the box brand. A second pitfall is to ignore the fact that individual brands are part of a larger system consisting of many intertwined and overlapping brands and subbrands Aaker shows how to manage the brand system to achieve clarity and synergy to adapt to a changing environment and to leverage brand assets into new markets and products Aaker also addresses practical management issues introducing a set of brand equity measures termed the brand equity ten to help those who measure and track brand equity across products and markets He presents and analyzes brand nurturing organizational forms that are responsive to the challenges of coordinated brands across markets products roles and contexts Potentially destructive organizational pressures to change a brand s identity and position are also discussed As executives in a wide range of industries seek to prevent their products and services from becoming commodities they are recommitting themselves to brands as a foundation of business strategy This new work will be essential reading for the battle ready
