Natural Capital Peter Kareiva, 2011-04-07 In 2005 The Millennium Ecosystem Assessment MA provided the first global assessment of the world s ecosystems and ecosystem services It concluded that recent trends in ecosystem change threatened human wellbeing due to declining ecosystem services This bleak prophecy has galvanized conservation organizations ecologists and economists to work toward rigorous valuations of ecosystem services at a spatial scale and with a resolution that can inform public policy The editors have assembled the world s leading scientists in the fields of conservation policy analysis and resource economics to provide the most intensive and best technical analyses of ecosystem services to date A key idea that guides the science is that the modelling and valuation approaches being developed should use data that are readily available around the world In addition the book documents a toolbox of ecosystem service mapping modeling and valuation models that both The Nature Conservancy and the World Wide Fund for Nature WWF are beginning to apply around the world as they transform conservation from a biodiversity only to a people and ecosystem services agenda The book addresses land freshwater and marine systems at a variety of spatial scales and includes discussion of how to treat both climate change and cultural values when examining tradeoffs among ecosystem services
