Misra, Isaac Woungang, Subhas Chandra Misra, 2009-03-02 Overview and Goals Wireless communication technologies are undergoing rapid advancements The past few years have experienced a steep growth in research in the area of wireless ad hoc networks The attractiveness of ad hoc networks in general is attributed to their characteristics features such as ability for infrastructure less setup minimal or no reliance on network planning and the ability of the nodes to self organize and self configure without the involvement of a centralized network manager router access point or a switch These features help to set up a network fast in situations where there is no existing network setup or in times when setting up a fixed infrastructure network is considered infeasible for example in times of emergency or during relief operations Even though ad hoc networks have emerged to be attractive and they hold great promises for our future there are several challenges that need to be addressed Some of the well known challenges are attributed to issues relating to scalability quality of service energy efficiency and security From Siberia to Denmark Andrej Sivertsev, 2023-03-29 I believe that one of the best adventures which one can experience is not travelling to far and exotic destinations but integration into a new society and one of the best rewards which you can achieve is the admiration of being accepted as a full member of it I call it a voyage and this voyage will apparently never stop for me as there will always be something new to learn along the way Multifunctional

Mesoporous Inorganic Solids César A.C. Sequeira, Michael J. Hudson, 2013-04-17 1 Introduction There is much interest in the general subject of porous inorganic materials with respect to their use as sorbents or catalysts Such inorganic solids may be microporous mesoporous or macroporous according to the sizes of the pores within the solid Often there is a range of pore sizes within any given solid and so there is special interest in the synthesis characterisation and application of porous inorganic solids with well defined pores Pores of diameter larger than 50 nm are generally termed macropores Those with diameters of less than 2 nm are micropores and pores of intermediate size are called mesopores Solids which contain only mesopores are correctly called mesoporous but very often there is a combination of different types of porosities within one given solid The synthesis characterisation and application of microporous solids is much more advanced than is the case with mesoporous substances Moreover the synthesis of crystalline mesoporous materials is one clear goal for the future but which has not been attained so far Consequently it is of interest to examine the current state of our knowledge of microporous materials and to examine how this may apply to mesoporous materials Both catalytic and sorption processes could benefit from studies of mesoporous solids because the mesopores could permit diffusion of larger reactants or products than is the case in microporous materials 2 Indian Journal of Chemistry ,2003 Novel A-Zirconium Phosphonates for the Reinforcement of Ductile Thermoplastics Benjamin R. Furman,2007 Heterogeneous Catalysis and Fine Chemicals IV H.U. Blaser,A. Baiker,R. Prins,1997-06-19 After three meetings in Poitiers France the 4th International Symposium on Heterogeneous Catalysis and Fine Chemicals was held under the auspices of the New Swiss Chemical Society in Basel Switzerland Fundamental as well as applied contributions on the use of heterogeneous catalysis for the preparation of fine chemicals were presented and discussed The program consisted of 4 plenary lectures 28 oral contributions and around 90 posters covering a broad range of reactions and catalytic aspects 82 of these contributions are collected in the present proceedings grouped into the following 8 topical areas Industrial and engineering problems 7 contributions Alkylation and acylation reactions 11 contributions Enantio and diastereoselective hydrogenation reactions 9 contributions Chemoselective hydrogenation reactions 12 contributions Oxidation reactions 14 contributions Immobilized and encapsulated complex catalysts 12 contributions Zeolite and clay catalysts 12 contributions Miscellaneous topics 5 contributions

Quint,2012-09-17 In the mid summer of 1989 the German Democratic Republic known as the GDR or East Germany was an autocratic state led by an entrenched Communist Party A loyal member of the Warsaw Pact it was a counterpart of the Federal Republic of Germany West Germany which it confronted with a mixture of hostility and grudging accommodation across the divide created by the Cold War Over the following year and a half dramatic changes occurred in the political system of East Germany and culminated in the GDR s accession to the Federal Republic itself Yet the end of Germany s division evoked its own new and very bitter constitutional problems The Imperfect Union discusses these issues and shows that they are at the core of a great event of political economic and social history Part I analyzes the constitutional history of eastern Germany from 1945 through the constitutional changes of 1989 1990 and beyond to the constitutions of the re created east German states Part II analyzes the Unification Treaty and the numerous problems arising from it the fate of expropriated property on unification the unification of the disparate eastern and western abortion regimes the transformation of East German institutions such as the civil service the universities and the judiciary prosecution of former GDR leaders and officials the rehabilitation and compensation of GDR victims and the issues raised by the fateful legacy of the files of the East German secret police Part III examines the external aspects of unification
