representations in unforeseen ways Drawing on empirical evidence from Modern Greek poetry the book offers a unified account of time conceptualization along a continuum of various degrees of non conventionality It also shows unlike what has been traditionally assumed in the literature that creativity in the expression of time is not limited to metaphor but extends to other figurative tropes that are perhaps specific to poetry Poetry thus transpires as an ideal testing frame for exploring temporal cognition and meaning construction alike

Furnishing the Mind Jesse J. Prinz, 2004-08-20 Western philosophy has long been divided between empiricists who argue that human understanding has its basis in experience and rationalists who argue that reason is the source of knowledge A central issue in the debate is the nature of concepts the internal representations we use to think about the world The traditional empiricist thesis that concepts are built up from sensory input has fallen out of favor Mainstream cognitive science tends to echo the rationalist tradition with its emphasis on innateness In Furnishing the Mind Jesse Prinz attempts to swing the pendulum back toward empiricism Prinz provides a critical survey of leading theories of concepts including imagism definitionism prototype theory exemplar theory the theory theory and informational atomism He sets forth a new defense of concept empiricism that draws on philosophy neuroscience and psychology and introduces a new version of concept empiricism called proxytype theory He also provides accounts of abstract concepts intentionality narrow content and concept combination In an extended discussion of innateness he covers Noam Chomsky s arguments for the innateness of grammar developmental psychologists arguments for innate cognitive domains and Jerry Fodor s argument for radical concept nativism

Intentions in the Experience of Meaning Raymond W. Gibbs, 1999-09-13 What do our assumptions about authorship matter for our experience of meaning This book examines the debates in the humanities and social sciences over whether authorial intentions can or should constrain our interpretation of language and art Scholars assume that understanding of linguistic and artistic meaning should not be constrained by beliefs about authors and their possible intentions in creating a human artifact It is argued here that people are strongly disposed to infer intentionality when understanding oral speech written texts artworks and many other human actions Although ordinary people and scholars may infer meanings that diverge from or extend beyond what authors intend our experience of human artifacts as meaningful is fundamentally tied to our assumptions of intentionality This challenges the traditional ideas of intentions as existing solely in the minds of individuals and formulates a new conceptual framework for examining if and when intentions influence the interpretation of meaning
