Tourism Practical Task 2014 Grade 11:

Proceedings of The Focus Conference (TFC 2022) Manyane Makua, Mariam Akinlolu, Mashango Sithole, Phiwayinkosi Gumede, Cebo Nyondo, 2023-02-08 This is an open access book. It is a common cause globally that the abrupt emergence of Covid 19 wreaked havoc in all sectors including the higher education system. The sudden closure of campuses as a social distancing measure to prevent community transmission has shifted face to face classes to online teaching and learning, a transformative experiment for academics and students in most institutions. This has thrown the focus on utilising Learning Management Systems (LMS), eLearning tools and platforms for effective student engagement, which may have limitations of accessibility and affordability for many students. The pandemic has exposed the shortcomings of the current higher education system and the need for more training of academics and practitioners in digital technology to adapt to the rapidly changing educational climate. In the post pandemic situation, eLearning and virtual education may become an integral part of the higher education system, hence the question of re-inventing higher education. The higher education institutions and universities need to plan the post pandemic education and research strategies to ensure student learning outcomes and standards of educational quality. With the move to online teaching and learning, subsequently traditional assessments followed and were adapted and adopted for online assessment. Assessments lie at the heart of the teaching process. It shapes students' understanding of the curriculum and determines their ability to progress. Reflections on assessments during Covid 19 abounded with the challenges that both academics and students faced regarding online assessments, including cheating and quality assurance issues. The focus on quality extended to the quality of teaching and learning in general. Moreover, the pandemic brought about the question of staff and student health and psychosocial support, also becoming important. For academics, the abrupt shift to adapt to working from home and implementing online learning has led to overwork, low work-life balance and compromised mental health. With a view on constructive and futuristic discourse, the sub-themes of the 2022 Focus conference encapsulate the current realities in the higher education sector and beyond. It further provides opportunities for an in-depth analysis based on the benefit of hindsight and foresight. The Organising Committee specifically coined the theme 'Re-inventing higher education: Insights, trends and lessons learnt from specifically for the conference to reflect on and address the matters mentioned earlier. Academics, scholars and practitioners in the higher education sector are called upon to share their research and express their perspectives on the reinvention of higher education. Teaching English for Tourism Michael Ennis, Gina Petrie, 2019-07-04 Teaching English for Tourism initiates a sustained academic discussion on the teaching and learning of English to tourism professionals or to students who aspire to build a career in the tourism industry. Responding to a gap in the field, this is the first book of its kind to explore the implications of research in English for tourism (Eft) within the field of English for specific purposes. This edited volume brings together teachers and researchers of Eft from diverse national and institutional contexts, focusing on connecting current research in Eft contexts to classroom implications It considers a wide range of themes related to the teaching of EFL including theoretical concepts methodological frameworks and specific teaching methods The book explores topics relating to the impact of changing technologies the need for cultural understanding and support for writing development among others Teaching English for Tourism explores this growing area of English for specific purposes and allows for researchers and practitioners to share their findings in an academic context This unique book is ideal reading for researchers post graduate students and professionals working in the fields of English language teaching and learning

Speech Language Therapy as a Global

Practice Bea Staley, Chisomo Selemani, Marise Fernandes, 2025-08-15 Speech Language Therapy as a Global Practice focuses on the necessary skills and considerations needed to be a culturally responsive clinician in a multicultural and multilingual world. The book highlights current issues of global practice and advocates for appropriate ways to engage with global communities. It positions culture context and collaboration as integral and intertwined components of speech language therapy work. Drawing on examples of successful and ongoing collaborative global speech language therapy partnerships, chapters cover a breadth of topics including social justice, translanguaging and colourism, and include a series of reflective questions. Authors grapple with ways to challenge the status quo and consider alternative ways of being knowing and doing, including the use of technology and innovation in global practice. Overall, this collection highlights the importance of creating space for discussion as the profession of speech language therapy is now practiced in more countries than ever before. This much-needed book will be essential reading for students and practising speech language therapists, particularly those interested in cultural competence, meaningful reflection and ethical practice. It will also be of interest to allied health professionals working with individuals experiencing communication disability.

Managing People in Commercial Kitchens Charalampos Giousmpasoglou, Evangelia Marinakou, Anastasios Zopiatis, John Cooper, 2022-01-17 Managing People in Commercial Kitchens: A Contemporary Approach uses original research to argue that senior managers/head chefs should differentiate their people management practices in kitchen brigades from those used in the hospitality industry, more generally, through socialisation and performance evaluation due to the group's strong occupational identity and culture. The understanding of chefs' work from a management perspective is critical for successful hospitality operations but has been historically under-researched. Chapters provide a detailed account of chefs' work in commercial kitchens from an HRM perspective. Using occupational identity and culture as a vehicle, this book explores the different aspects of managerial work in commercial kitchen settings: general management, leadership, education and training, skills and competencies, managing deviant behaviour, managing stress and managing diversity, focused on gender segregation. The final chapter looks at future perspectives on this unique working environment and the many challenges arising from the latest developments, such as the COVID-19 pandemic. Providing both theoretical insights and practical applications with the use of case studies throughout, this will be of great interest to upper-level students and researchers in hospitality, as well as a useful reference for current managers in the field.
