Standards Focus: Character Types

Chapters 17-20

As authors develop the plot and characters for a story, several character types emerge:

- ✓ The protagonist of a story is the main character that changes throughout the story; the protagonist is directly affected by the events of the plot.
- ✓ The antagonist is the main character in opposition to the protagonist; the antagonist usually causes the protagonist's problems. (The antagonist can also be a force of nature, such as flood, drought, hurricane, etc., or an intangible force, such as a Totalitarian Government.)

To further define his characters, an author then develops four general types of characters which evolve around the protagonist and antagonist and support the plot development.

- Round characters are complicated and interesting to the reader.
- Flat characters are simple and under-developed.
- Dynamic characters are those that grow or change emotionally or learn a lesson.
- Static characters change or grow very little (or not at all) throughout the story.

Directions: For the following characters, label each character as protagonist, antagonist, or neither; round or flat; dynamic or static. For example, Luke is the protagonist, who is also round and dynamic.

| Character        | Protagonist, Antagonist or Neither | Round or Flat | Dynamic or Static |
|------------------|------------------------------------|---------------|-------------------|
| Luke             | Protagonist                        | Round         | Dynamic           |
| Mother           |                                    |               |                   |
| Father           |                                    |               |                   |
| "The Government" |                                    |               |                   |
| Matthew          |                                    |               |                   |
| Jen              |                                    |               |                   |
