Romance in the Digital Game Amy Brierley-Beare, 2025-09-30 In the last decade the popularity of romance in the AAA game has exploded It has become an expectation for major releases and a regular object of fan obsession High profile games such as Baldur's Gate III 2023 Cyberpunk 2077 2020 and Starfield 2023 prominently feature in game romance in their multimillion dollar promotional campaigns Moreover rampant speculation by gaming journalists and fans about who is romanceable will regularly accompany the announcement of a new title However representations of romance have long been under examined and vaguely defined by scholars This leaves important questions unanswered How does the digital game mediate cultural attitudes towards love and sex How can we classify representations of romance in the digital game Does romance simply replicate existing hegemonies surrounding gender and sexuality or does it offer a space for transgressive play Book title positions optional romance in the AAA game as a central object of analysis Based on the close analysis of some of the most commercially and culturally significant games of the last 30 years like Grand Theft Auto IV 2008 the Mass Effect series 2007 21 and the Elder Scrolls series 1994 2024 it is the first full length monograph to effectively and comprehensively categorise how mainstream gaming asks its audience to engage with romance It interrogates the idiosyncrasies of romance in the popular games to provide fresh insights into messaging surrounding normative social understandings of love sex and intimacy By theorising four representational categories of romance Limerent Physical Domestic and Ludic Automatic Love introduces a new theoretical framework for scholars to understand romance gender and sexuality in gaming 100

This collection reads the science fiction genre and television medium as examples of heterotopia and television as science fiction technology in which forms processes and productions of space and time collide a multiplicity of spaces produced and re configured The book looks to be a heterotopic production with different chapters and spaces of genre production mediums technologies homes bodies etc reflecting refracting and colliding to offer insight into spatial relationships and the implications of these spaces for a society that increasingly inhabits the world through the space of the screen A focus on American science fiction offers further spatial focus for this study a question of geographical and cultural borders and influence not only in terms of American science fiction but American television and streaming services The contested hegemonic nature of American science fiction television will be discussed alongside a nation that has significantly been understood even produced through the television screen Essays will examine the various re configurations or productions of space as they collapse into the science fiction heterotopia of television since 1987 the year Star Trek Next Generation began airing Translation Flows Ilse Feinauer,Amanda Marais,Marius Swart,2023-10-15

The genesis of this book was the 9th Congress of the European Society for Translation Studies held in Stellenbosch South Africa in September 2019 the first time the event took place outside Europe Living Translation People Processes Products was the Congress theme A common thread whether as a methodological or analytical basis as a descriptive framework or as a subject in itself was that of flows and the flowing nature of translation The contributions included here draw on a productive framework of networks and flows and foreground the inherent spatial and temporal diversity of Translation Studies Translation as a social practice is the golden thread throughout the volume not just translation in the conventional sense between languages and cultures but over artificial borders into new spaces between non traditional agents and actors and through various genres and mediums Chapters are clustered loosely based on the temporality of the topic under discussion Work on and from the Global North constitutes the first section and the second complements this by bringing the Global South into the picture as well This state of the art research will stimulate robust scholarly discussions as we map our way forward as a living discipline
