The Annual of Psychoanalysis, V. 22 Jerome A. Winer, 2013-05-13 Volume 22 of The Annual of Psychoanalysis begins with the provocative reflections of Jane Flax and Robert Michels on the current status and future prospects of psychoanalysis a century after Freud Flax believes that analysis will not survive in the postmodern West if analysts cling to the medical model and the notion of analysis as a clinical science Michels believes analysis will be revived in the next century by reorganizing its training institutes within universities A section on Psychoanalysis and the Visual Arts includes John Gedo s probing examination of the inner world of Paul Gauguin and William Meissner s reflections on Vincent van Gogh as artist Johann Michael Rotmann s examination of the transferential meanings of third party payment within Germany s health insurance system is a timely consideration of issues that are increasingly salient for American analysts and therapists A rich harvest of theoretical and clinical papers rounds out this volume of The Annual In A Time of Questioning Leon Wurmser responds to the inner and outer challenges before analysis in a closely reasoned defense of the applicability of classical analytic technique to severely disturbed patients Michael Hoit examines the noninterpretive interactive aspects of the analytic relationship arguing that the analyst s noninterpretive activities are intrinsic to treatment and must be incorporated into the theory of therapeutic action In Fables as Psychoanalytic Metaphors Elaine Caruth describes some psychoanalytic metaphors contained within the lessons of the Aesopian fables proposing that the fables address interpersonal and group conflicts that often involve moral issues Wilma Bucci offers her multiple code theory as a new model of emotion and mind based on current theory and research in cognitive science that can account for clinical concepts and provide coherent framework for empirical research And Ralph Roughton uses the case history of Laura to underscore the central role of repetition and interaction in the analytic process Volume 22 will not disappoint readers of this distinguished continuing series Like its predecessors it is a thoroughly assembled collection responsive to the conceptual clinical and institutional challenges now before the field Ebony, 1967-06 EBONY is the flagship magazine of Johnson Publishing Founded in 1945 by John H Johnson it still maintains the highest global circulation of any African American focused magazine Fantasy Femmes of Sixties Cinema Tom Lisanti, 2015-05-20 Elvis Presley musicals beach romps biker flicks and alienated youth movies were some of the most popular types of drive in films during the sixties The actresses interviewed for this book including Celeste Yarnall Lana Wood Linda Harrison Pamela Tiffin Deanna Lund Diane McBain Judy Pace and Chris Noel all made their mark in these genres These fantastic femmes could be found either twisting on the shores of Malibu careening down the highway on a chopper being serenaded by Elvis or taking on the establishment as hip coeds As cult figures they contributed greatly to that period of filmmaking aimed at the teenage audience who frequented the drive ins of America They frolicked screamed and danced their way into B movie history in such diverse films as Eve Teenage Millionaire The Girls on the Beach Dr Goldfoot and the Bikini Machine Three in the Attic Wild in the Streets and Paradise Hawaiian Style This book is a celebration of the actresses careers They have for the most part been overlooked in other publications documenting the history of film Fantasy Femmes addresses their film and television careers focusing on their view of the above genres their candid comments and anecdotes about their films the people they worked with and their feelings in general regarding their lives and the choices they made The book is well illuminated and contains a complete list of film and television credits Recruiting for Uncle Sam David R. Segal, 1989 Which citizens have fought America's wars Which ones should fight in the future and how should they be recruited Should military or other national service be an obligation for every citizen David Segal's probing look at the complex issues behind these questions tells us much about the changing manpower needs of our armed forces and about the evolution of civil military relations in the United States Segal analyzes the mobilization contributions and limitations of drafted reservist and volunteer forces from the early days of the republic to the present In the process he shows how Americans have come to separate the benefits of citizenship from service to their country Symptomatic of this separation is the current reliance on an all volunteer military a system that treats military service more as an occupation and opportunity for self advancement than as a civic duty and obligation Drawing on a vast interdisciplinary literature in American history sociology political science and economics Segal illuminates the ways demographics weapons technology international relations scientific management and social policies have all affected the composition of America's armed forces He also shows how the military anticipated and expanded the American welfare system and played a pivotal role in creating better opportunities for minorities and women The capabilities and performance of U S armed forces in future conflicts will depend on a thorough understanding of and informed response to the crucial manpower issues Segal discusses His thoughtful study should be required reading for military professionals and policymakers and will be of interest to anyone concerned about the future of this country s armed forces The Year's Best Fantasy and Horror Seventh Annual Collection Ellen Datlow,Terri Windling,1994-08-15 Collection of fantasy and horror short stories
