Behaviour: The Lost Modules Jen Foster, 2023-09-02 Oh hey Thank you for being here Let me introduce myself My name is Jen Foster and I am an educator A few years ago I started an Instagram account dedicated to teaching I started by just sharing everything and anything and loving having a community of keen beans like me But it didn't take me long to spot something quite odd Scrolling through thousands of teachers experiences around the world there were two things that stood out like a sore thumb Behaviour was this huge obstacle in teaching The guidance around behaviour was either inconsistent vague or unhelpful So I decided to learn everything I could about behaviour I explored outside the education shelves and bought way too many books about neuroscience positive psychology business and parenting The more I learnt the more I reflected on my own practice and my own experiences in schools I asked educators in my community their opinions on behaviour and this is what I found out 93% felt that they had inadequate behaviour training as a trainee teacher 88% feel they have inadequate behaviour training as a qualified teacher So isn't it about time we shined a spotlight on behaviour Behaviour The lost Modules is the book you wish you had read before stepping into a classroom The book you wish had been required reading on your university reading list A book that is practical easy to read and tells you what you need to know about behaviour in primary schools A book by a teacher for teachers drawing on common sense personal experiences and current research *Teach Now! Kirkman explore our understanding of this core educational concept drawing together ideas from leading international thinkers and practical strategies for busy teachers The Best of the Best series brings together for the first time the most influential voices in education in a format that is concise insightful and accessible for teachers Keeping up with the latest and best ideas in education can be a challenge as can putting them into practice but this new series is here to help Each title features a comprehensive collection of brief and accessible contributions from some of the most eminent names in education from around the world In this exciting first volume Isabella Wallace and Leah Kirkman have curated a collection of inspiring contributions on the theme of progress and have developed practical realistic cross curricular and cross phase strategies to make the most of these important insights in the classroom Each expert has provided a list of further reading so you can dig deeper as you see fit In addition the Teacher Development Trust has outlined ideas for embedding these insights as part of CPD Suitable for all educationalists including teachers and school leaders Many myths abound about progress We have to show that learners are making progress but what do we really mean by the term Who decides what constitutes progress Who should set targets and why How do we measure progress How do we know when pupils are demonstrating it How do we differentiate and allow for learners different starting points Should we be measuring everyone against the average or should we be looking at ipsative progress where achievement is relative only to the pupil s personal best Indeed if everyone is making expected progress is that really progress or just doing as expected Do we need to rethink assessment Does meta cognition hold the answer What about other approaches like SOLO taxonomy or Building Learning Power If progress isn t linear what kind of shape does it have What implicit value judgements may we be making when applying the term uncritically and unthinkingly How do we ensure that funding including the Pupil Premium is having a tangible effect on progress Can we make learning and progress visible What does the evidence base the research studies and meta analyses have to say Will that be applicable in all contexts These are just some of the questions that the educational experts delve into in this first volume in the Best of the Best series The practical strategies offered by Isabella Wallace and Leah Kirkman demonstrate how teachers can immediately use these ideas in the classroom Advice from the Teacher Development Trust demonstrates how to plan sustained and responsive changes to practice based on the book s key insights Contributions include Professor John Hattie Pupil premium monitoring what works Geoff Petty Improving progress by learning from the best research Sir John Jones Demographics destiny and the magic weaving business Sugata Mitra Schools in the Internet age David Didau The real shape of progress Professor Mick Waters Doing well for your age Will Ord What is progress Claire Gadsby A climate for learning Professor Robert Bjork Creating desirable difficulties to enhance learning Professor John West Burnham Progress and practice Professor Guy Claxton Building Learning Power finding your own sweet spot James Nottingham Progress progress progress Mark Burns Learning without limits Martin Robinson The pupil s progress Mike Gershon Exemplar work Pam Hook On making progress visible with SOLO Andy Hargreaves Uplifting colleagues Teacher Development Trust Next steps Talk-Less Teaching Isabella Wallace, Leah Kirkman, 2014-09-01 Teacher Expectations and Pupil Learning Roy Nash, 2012 In the field of teacher expectations and pupil learning one important psychological truth is that the pupils achievement in learning is strongly influenced by the teachers expectations of their level of performance high or low Roy Nash discusses critically and fully important research in this area In the belief that research must be interpreted within an overall theory of social action the author relates the empirical studies which he examines to an interactionist theory He emphasizes the importance of making teachers aware of the implications of what they are doing and of the possibility of establishing wider and more educative patterns of interaction He shows that research into attitudes perceptions or expectations is all essentially concerned with the same problem how teachers relate to pupils on the basis of a model of what pupils may be Much of the work he discusses has direct relevance to teachers in their day to day work The research findings will help them to become more aware of their attitudes and how these influence their actions and should make them more likely to give all their pupils equal opportunities within their classes Among the topics covered are observational and experimental studies of teacher expectations the analysis of classroom climate self conceptions pupils perceptions and expectations and the significance of classroom based research into teacher pupil interaction Goal-Driven Lesson Planning for Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages Christina Michaud, Marnie Reed, 2010-07-29 This book is more than a collection of activities or ready made lesson plans to add to a teaching repertoire Instead Goal Driven Lesson Planning is intended to empower teachers and help them create a principled framework for their teaching a framework that will shape the varied activities of the ESL classroom into a coherent teaching and learning partnership After reading this book teachers and prospective teachers will be able to articulate their individual teaching philosophies Goal Driven Lesson Planning shows readers how to take any piece from English language materials an assigned text a random newspaper article an ESL activity from a website etc and use it to teach students something about language Readers are walked through the process of reflecting on their role in diagnosing what that something is what students really need and planning how to get them there and how to know when they got there in a goal driven principled manner This book has chapters on the theory of setting specific language goals for students how to analyze learner needs including an initial diagnostic and needs analysis templates to use when planning goal driven English language lessons explicit instruction on giving corrective feedback how to recognize and assess student progress and the mechanics and logistics that facilitate the goal driven language classroom

Equity Learning Communities

Daniel L. Reinholz, 2025-07-31 Concrete strategies for making higher education instruction more equitable via professional learning groups that use empirical classroom data to guide iterative incremental changes In Equity Learning Communities Daniel Reinholz recommends sustained collaborative professional development group meetings as a launchpad for higher education instructors to enhance classroom equity and inclusivity In Reinholz's approach community members make use of debrief sessions collaborative problem solving and empirical classroom data such as participation data to guide iterative incremental changes in instruction that increase empathy and trust improve instructor student relationships and build from student strengths The book offers a comprehensive look at the process of professional learning via equity learning communities Reinholz makes evident the tremendous benefits of such communities and community cultural wealth He presents in depth case studies of six instructors diverse in terms of race gender disability discipline and professional experience who made transformative changes to their mindset perspective and instruction as participants in such communities This work gives instructors a host of explicit strategies and educational moves for becoming aware of and quashing inequities as they arise It also provides a wealth of practical wisdom that faculty leaders instructional coaches and professional developers could apply to their own equity work It serves as a blueprint for readers to create and sustain their own learning communities from picking an appropriate measure to collecting data and organizing collaborative professional learning around those data Time and Learning in the Special Education Classroom Libby Goodman,1990-01-01 Focusing on the relationship between time use and learning results this book explores the instructional processes in special education classrooms The text emphasizes teacher control of time resources at the classroom level instructional management strategies that conserve and enhance instructional time and the efficient and effective use of learning time to enhance student performance outcomes The dual dimensions of time and task are incorporated throughout the text to communicate the essential message that time and the appropriate use of time go hand in hand in the classroom Adequate time alone is a necessary but insufficient condition for maximal learning to occur Time and Learning in the Special Education Classroom strikes a balance between research and application to achieve a scholarly yet readable text relevant for both pre service and in service teachers supervisors principals administrators and teacher educators
