Norris, Alexia Stokes, Slobodan B. Mickovski, Erik Cammeraat, Rens van Beek, Bruce C. Nicoll, Alexis Achim, 2008-02-29 This chapter describes the processes involved in the transport of material over hillslopes Hillslopes provide the gradients enabling material to be transported from the slopes themselves towards the valley bottoms directly by gravity alone or by water flowing down over the surface Gravity has the potential to transfer material downslope if the material resistance to counteract it is insufficient Similarly water and wind flowing along the surface exert a drag on soil particles and have the potential to entrain material After the gradient has fallen below a critical threshold to keep the material in transport deposition occurs Conventionally slope processes in which gravity alone is the dominant transporting agent are called mass movements Brunsden 1984 Processes in which other agents dominate are called erosion e.g. wind or water erosion Flowing water is an important transporting agent on which the emphasis is placed here Although mass wasting is a natural process its incidence and impact may be exacerbated by human activities Crozier 1986 Morgan 2005 A situation may ultimately arise in which human interests become unsafe or unsustainable This impact is not only directly felt in the areas where material is removed or deposited and indirectly mass wasting may have an effect on soil and water quality in areas located further downstream In the following sections a brief overview is given of the mechanisms morphology causes and consequences of mass movements and erosion A Short Manual of Comparative Philology for Classical Students Peter Giles, 1901 Catalogue of Title-entries of Books and Other Articles Entered in the Office
