Hummel, 2009 Chemical Literacy and Writing Chemical Reactions Nikolay Gerasimchuk, 2022-09-12 Writing chemical reactions in general and inorganic chemistry is not a trivial task However writing reactions for chemical processes correctly is a clear indicator of proficiency and competence in a subject Unfortunately very few students grasp the concept of the correct writing of chemical reactions quickly and so are unable to move through topics of general analytical and inorganic chemistry freely Because the ability to write and balance different types of chemical reactions is a fundamental issue this becomes a key question of chemical literacy The successful writing of chemical reactions includes two components the prediction of products of these reactions and their possible variations and balancing these reactions providing a material balance between starting compounds and reactions products This book explores that element of the teaching of the fundamentals of chemical literacy writing complete equations of chemical reactions and balancing them It contains 49 figures 22 schemes and 12 tables and 93 problems with answers This book will be very useful for high school students interested in chemical sciences higher education teachers students in colleges and universities majoring in chemistry and biochemistry and chemistry professional working in industry It also contains information about properties of the most common elements and applications of a variety of their chemical compounds Biological Crystallization Jaime Gómez Morales, 2019-09-23 For at least six hundred million years life has been a fascinating laboratory of crystallization referred to as biomineralization During this huge lapse of time many organisms from diverse phyla have developed the capability to precipitate various types of minerals exploring distinctive pathways for building sophisticated structural architectures for different purposes The Darwinian exploration was performed by trial and error but the success in terms of complexity and efficiency is evident Understanding the strategies that those organisms employ for regulating the nucleation growth and assembly of nanocrystals to build these sophisticated devices is an intellectual challenge and a source of inspiration in fields as diverse as materials science nanotechnology and biomedicine. However, Biological Crystallization is a broader topic that includes biomineralization but also the laboratory crystallization of biological compounds such as macromolecules, carbohydrates or lipids and the synthesis and fabrication of biomimetic materials by different routes. This Special Issue collects 15 contributions ranging from biological and biomimetic crystallization of calcium carbonate, calcium phosphate and silica carbonate self-assembled materials to the crystallization of biological macromolecules. Special attention has been paid to the fundamental phenomena of crystallization, nucleation and growth and the applications of the crystals in biomedicine, environment and materials science. Biomaterials Science:
