1. The first step in the process of creating a new product is to identify a market need. This involves conducting market research to understand the preferences and behaviors of potential customers. Once a need is identified, the next step is to develop a concept that addresses this need. This concept should be unique, valuable, and feasible. The third step is to create a prototype, which is a preliminary model of the product. This allows the team to test the concept and make necessary adjustments. Finally, the product is launched into the market, and the team monitors its performance and customer feedback to make further improvements.
