

9.1 Circular Functions

Let (x, y) be any point on the unit circle. If θ is a real number that represents the distance from the point $(1, 0)$ along the circumference to the point (x, y) , then $$\sin \theta = y$$

$$\cos \theta = x$$

$$\tan \theta = \frac{y}{x}$$

$$\csc \theta = \frac{1}{y}$$

$$\sec \theta = \frac{1}{x}$$

$$\cot \theta = \frac{x}{y}$$

The coordinates of the points along the unit circle can be written as $(\cos \theta, \sin \theta)$ and since θ is a real number, the trigonometric functions are often called circular functions.

Example 1

Find the exact values for

a. $\sin \frac{5\pi}{4}$

b. $\cos \frac{7\pi}{6}$

c. $\tan \left(-\frac{3\pi}{2} \right)$

Solution

Example 2

Evaluate the six trigonometric functions for $\theta = \frac{5\pi}{4}$.

Function Frank Greene Dickinson,1952 Function Transformations Tim Brown,2014-01 This unit is designed to familiarize students with the ideas of how various functions can be transformed and the effect those transformations have on equations graphs and contextual situations The function families were chosen to be simple enough for students to readily understand and also sophisticated enough to clearly demonstrate the effects of dilations and translations The skills and principles to be learned apply to virtually all function families and will give a solid foundation for more advanced studies in functions The approach of this unit is primarily investigative in nature students will examine the effects various transformations have on function equations and graphs to develop conjectures and generalized understanding To that end the Geometry Expressions Gx software will be used extensively as an investigative tool and a means to check the accuracy of conjectures Ideally students will have previously completed the Intro to Unit Circle Trigonometry lesson using Gx as that introduces the general learning pattern as well as many of the software features they will be using If they haven't used Gx that augments an individual's ability to perform a particular task The more specificity a tool has the narrower its instrumentality Tools inherently constrain the way individuals design however designers are often unaware of their influence and bias Digital tools are becoming increasingly complex and filled with hierarchical symbolic heuristics creating a black box in which designers do not understand what is under the hood of the tools they drive And yet designers are becoming fascinated with engineering mentalities optimization and automation Simply it gives a solution But this is not design Designers need to work outside of a fixed atmosphere The future of digital instruments is not more complex heuristics but rather the contrary It is imperative to go back to the most basic building blocks of these engines mathematics Within mathematics functions can be embedded inside other functions at anytime giving designers endless freedom to alter the computational hierarchy By playing with parametric equations and tacit engagement with the algorithm one can begin to learn explicitly how discrete operations transform shapes in a particular way This guide embraces the thought that all shapes could potentially be described by the trigonometric functions of sine and cosine These functions became the only fixed constraint to instrumentalize Through the recursive play and learn process a new morphological classification of topological transformations emerged leading to the development of this guide the first pedagogical guide into trigonometric transformations This guide does not invent new realms within the field of mathematics but develops a new cognitive narrative within it emphasizing the interconnected and plastic nature of shapes
