Abstracting/Revising: The design of case abstracting is a complex task that the author (primary investigator) often delegates to his/her staff who are typically a research librarian and a research assistant. The latter is called a research assistant II (RA2) because he/she is not a librarian. Staff are recruited and interviewed, and then trained. The RA2s are given the design and approach to guide the abstracting and are expected to follow the "Plan" (abstracting plan). Staff's success or failure in abstracting and shaping conclusions are referred to as the results, impact or case abstracting.
