Arcimboldo Thomas DaCosta Kaufmann,2010-05-15 In Giuseppe Arcimboldo s most famous paintings grapes fish and even the beaks of birds form human hair A pear stands in for a man s chin Citrus fruits sprout from a tree trunk that doubles as a neck All sorts of natural phenomena come together on canvas and panel to assemble the strange heads and faces that constitute one of Renaissance art s most striking oeuvres The first major study in a generation of the artist behind these remarkable paintings Arcimboldo tells the singular story of their creation Drawing on his thirty five year engagement with the artist Thomas DaCosta Kaufmann begins with an overview of Arcimboldo s life and work exploring the artist s early years in sixteenth century Lombardy his grounding in Leonardesque traditions and his tenure as a Habsburg court portraitist in Vienna and Prague Arcimboldo then trains its focus on the celebrated composite heads approaching them as visual jokes with serious underpinnings images that poetically display pictorial wit while conveying an allegorical message In addition to probing the humanistic literary and philosophical dimensions of these pieces Kaufmann explains that they embody their creator's continuous engagement with nature painting and natural history. He reveals in fact that Arcimboldo painted many more nature studies than scholars have realized a finding that significantly deepens current interpretations of the composite heads. Demonstrating the previously overlooked importance of these works to natural history and still life painting, Arcimboldo finally restores the artist's fantastic visual jokes to their rightful place in the history of both science and art.

James Legge, 1865 The Journal of Education for Upper Canada, 1852 The Journal of Education for Ontario ... Egerton Ryerson, John George Hodgins, Adam Crooks, 1854 Eric Rohmer Éric Rohmer, 2013. The 1969 film Ma Nuit chez Maud catapulted its shy academic film director Eric Rohmer 1920-2010 into the limelight, selling over a million tickets in France and earning a nomination for an Academy Award. Ma Nuit chez Maud remains his most famous film, the highlight of an impressive range of films examining the sexual, romantic and artistic mores of contemporary France: the temptations of desire, the small joys of everyday life and sometimes the vicissitudes of history and politics. Yet Rohmer was already forty years old when Ma Nuit chez Maud was released and had already had a career as the editor of Cahiers du Cinéma, a position he lost in a political takeover in 1963. The interviews in this book offer a range of insights into the theoretical, critical and practical circumstances of Rohmer's remarkably coherent body of films but also allow Rohmer to act as his own critic, providing us with an array of readings concerning his interest in setting season, color and narrative. Alongside the application of a theoretical rigor to his own films, Rohmer's interviews also discuss directors as varied as Godard, Carné, Renoir and Hitchcock and the relations of film to painting, architecture and music. This book reproduces little-known interviews such as a debate Rohmer undertakes with Women and Film concerning feminism alongside detailed discussions from Cahiers and Positif many produced in English here for the first time.
