University Of Limpopo Second Semester Time Table:

Social Work in Social Change Nicci Earle, 2008 This study forms part of a series of studies on professions and professional education being conducted by the HSRC's research programme on Education Science Skills Development. It follows a pilot study on medical doctors published in 2006 entitled Doctors in a Divided Society. The profession and education of medical practitioners in South Africa. Like the other studies in the series, this study involved developing an understanding of the professional milieu and professional labour market of social workers. As the implementers of government social policy, social work professionals have been at the forefront of grappling with the practicalities of the changes in focus, approach and methods of social security and social service delivery since 1994. It examines developments in the education and training of social workers within the democratic dispensation, the most significant of which is the development of a national standardised Bachelor of Social Work degree. The study also reveals that the dominant profile in student enrolment and graduation statistics has changed from white female to African female and that enrolment has increased significantly. However, the study also shows that graduation trends have been negative and losses due to emigration are an additional concern. Given the scarcity of these professionals against the demand for their services, understanding the factors that contribute to this picture are critical to effective intervention.

The Love Song of André P. Brink Leon de Kock, 2019-05-08 The Love Song of André P. Brink is the first biography of this major South African novelist who during his lifetime was published in over 30 languages and ranked with the likes of Gabriel García Márquez, Peter Carey and Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn. Leon de Kock's eagerly awaited account of Brink's life is richly informed by a previously unavailable literary treasure: the dissident Afrikaner's hoard of journal writing, a veritable chronicle that was 54 years in the making. In this massive new biographical source, running to a million words, Brink does not spare himself or anyone else for that matter, as he narrates the ups and downs of his five marriages and his compulsive affairs with a great number of women. These are precisely the topics that the rebel in both politics and sex skated over in his memoir A Fork in the Road. De Kock's biographical study of the author who came close to winning the Nobel Prize for Literature not only synthesises the journals but also subjects them to searching critical analysis. In addition, the biographer measures the journals against additional sources, both scholarly and otherwise, among them the testimony of Brink's friends, family, wives and lovers. The Love Song of André P. Brink subjects Brink's literary legacy to a bracing scholarly re-evaluation, making this major new biography a crucial addition to scholarship on Brink. Angus

Buchan Daily Planner 2009, Rethinking Learner Support in Distance Education Roger Mills, Alan Tait, 2004-08-02 Distance learning is becoming an increasingly popular way of studying and most universities now provide courses using these methods. Today's students though are demanding high quality, consumer-focused and flexible courses as well as learning resources and active learner support. This means that providers of distance education need to reconsider key issues about their learner support systems, ensuring that this is delivered appropriately and effectively. Considering the changing needs and demands of distance education students this book draws together contributions from the UK USA Hong Kong Australia Japan South Africa and Botswana to offer an international perspective on the challenges and opportunities of Information and Communication Technologies ICT quality assurance commercialisation and the learner as consumer the impact on learners of cultural differences on internationalised curricula the implications for learner support of a wider range of learners This book should be read by all those involved in developing and delivering distance education courses AF Press Clips ,1985-07
