Traub, 2019-09-24 The Swiss National Forest Inventory NFI is a forest survey on national level which started in 1982 and has already reached its 5th survey cycle NFI5 It can be characterized as a multisource and multipurpose inventory where information is mainly collected from terrestrial field surveys using permanent sample plots. In addition, data from aerial photography, GIS, and forest service questionnaires are also included. The NFI's main objective is to provide statistically reliable and sound figures to stakeholders such as politicians, researchers, ecologists, forest service, timber industry, national and international organizations, as well as to international projects such as the Forest Resources Assessment of the United Nations. For Switzerland, NFI results are typically reported on national and regional level. State-of-the-art methods are applied in all fields of data collection, which have been proven to be of international interest and have even served as a basis for other European NFIs. The presented methods are applicable to any sample-based forest inventory around the globe. In 2001, the Swiss NFI published its methods for the first time. Since then, many methodological changes and improvements have been introduced. This book describes the complete set of methods and revisions since NFI2. It covers various topics ranging from inventory design and statistics to remote sensing, field survey methods, and modelling. It also describes data quality concepts and the software framework used for data storage, statistical analysis, and result presentation.

How To Pick The Perfect Portable GPS Unit Neville Francis, 2013-09-06 As more and more individuals have to travel for work, travel, and a myriad of other reasons, it has become somewhat of a priority to have the best technological device to help them get from one point to the next. As a result of this, GPS units have become exceedingly important, especially for those who are on the road on a daily or weekly basis. That is why How To Pick The Perfect Portable GPS Unit is a must for every consumer. Gone are the days when printed maps are used to find out just which way to go, not to mention that they tend to become outdated pretty quickly as more and more changes are made to the infrastructure. In this day and age, electronic devices are needed to help the user to select the fastest route to their destination. They are pretty user-friendly and can easily be updated.

Participatory Sensing, Opinions and Collective Awareness Vittorio Loreto, Muki Haklay, Andreas Hotho, Vito D.P. Servedio, Gerd Stumme, Jan Theunis, Francesca Tria, 2016-05-13 This book introduces and reviews recent advances in the field in a comprehensive and non-technical way by focusing on the potential of emerging citizen science and social computation frameworks coupled with the latest theoretical and modeling tools developed by physicists, mathematicians, computer, and social scientists to analyse, interpret, and visualize complex data sets. There is overwhelming evidence that the current organisation of our economies and societies is seriously damaging biological ecosystems and human living conditions in the short term with potentially catastrophic effects in the long term. The need to re-organise the daily activities with the greatest impact: energy consumption, transport, housing, towards a more efficient and sustainable development model has recently been raised in the public debate on several global environmental issues. Above all, this requires the mismatch between global societal and individual needs to be addressed. Recent advances in Information and Communication Technologies (ICT) can trigger important transitions at the individual and collective level to achieve this aim. Based on the findings of the collaborative research network EveryAware, the following developments among the emerging ICT technologies are discussed in depth in this volume: Participatory sensing where ICT development is pushed to the level where it can support informed action at the hyperlocal scale providing capabilities for environmental monitoring data aggregation and mining as well as information presentation and sharing Web gaming social computing and internet mediated collaboration where the Web will continue to acquire the status of an infrastructure for social computing allowing users cognitive abilities to be coordinated in online communities and steering the collective action towards predefined goals Collective awareness and decision making where the access to both personal and community data collected by users processed with suitable analysis tools and re presented in an appropriate format by usable communication interfaces leads to a bottom up development of collective social strategies
