The Urban Ecologies of Divided Cities Amira Osman, John Nagle, Sabyasachi Tripathi, 2023-06-12 The book discusses how division affect the fabric of cities and people's sense of identity and agency and are reflected in physical features architecture and urban planning The question of divided cities represents a complex and multistranded urban Ecology at once both social and spatial it cannot be limited to a single science or discipline such as social or spatial fields This suggests integrated and cross disciplinary understandings as well as integrated or parallel approaches and solutions Urban ecologies of division manifest in multiple forms One of their most palpable expressions is conflict with parallels around the world and often with correlations in the spatial fabric Violence in such contexts is often a surface expression of deeper socio economic or ideological differences Whether as a result of intervention by authority or by dissent between groups a divided city inevitably becomes a place of conflict in various forms and intensity eroding the joy of living and sense of collective belonging to the detriment of all In effect it erodes the collective advantage of being part of a more unified society A city exists in collections of social structures which mutually form a society A divided city implies divided social structures and in consequence a divided society The papers compiled in this book present many case studies of divided cities discussing the different causes of divisions and their effects on societies Some of the causes can be linked to conflicts wars colonialism or legislative political systems In response to the serious challenges resulting from these divisions the book aims to provide opportunities for new approaches and possibilities for new interventions and solutions making it significant to urban planners architects and policymakers Proceedings of the International Conference on Education Research Reza Hosseini, 3D Printing:

concepts to reveal the complexity of social ways people come together to make music and to making music be central to this sociality. The authors explore the role community music plays out around the world and how various instrumentally based music making communities operate as ecologies that allow notions of social, political and cultural agency and identity. Chapters cover various instrumental community music ensembles observing how they as social microcosms of change and stasis provide working methods, new and old extol values and model ethical behaviours that are fluid and dynamic, steadfast and unyielding and that contribute to the ebb and flow of people and their agency that remains under researched. Insights are provided on variously functioning ensembles throughout the world showing how myriad instrumental music communities act as drivers, complex environments and apparatus for musical and social expression that accommodates the musical aspirations of their members. Taken as a whole, this book explores community music as local, global, global phenomena, critically discussing the redefinition of community music and what music making means to people in the twenty first century.

Contentious Migrant Solidarity Donatella della Porta, Elias Steinhilper, 2021-09-30 In the context of both the financial crisis and the crisis of European migration politics, the notion of solidarity has gained renewed prominence and as this book argues, its practice has become increasingly contentious. Intersecting crises have sharpened social and political polarization and have contracted simultaneously the space for migrant and minority rights as well as the rights around political dissent. Building upon social movement and migration studies, this book maps the two sides of contentious solidarity: a shrinking civic space and its contestation by civil society. The book thereby unfolds the variety of repressive means: physical, legal, administrative and discursive, employed by governmental and non governmental bodies against migrant solidarity, but also looks at how civil society organizations react to these restrictions through at times moderation and at times increasing contention. The diagnosis of contentious solidarity is located within two broader trends affecting the relationship between the state and civil society in a neoliberal context in general and since the financial crisis in particular. Bridging studies on social movement studies and civil society organizations, this volume contributes to recent reflections on repression of social movements as well as of a hybridization of civil society organizations. Given its broad scope and the utmost timeliness of the issues it addresses, the volume will be of interest to a broad academic and non academic audience. The Origin and Growth of Geography as a discipline at South Africa Universities Gustav Visser, Ronnie Donaldson, Cecil Seethal, 2016-09-20

Life, Times and Work of William Gillies, 1898-1973 Andrew McPherson, 2024-11-30 For seventy years William Gillies has been seen as a placid painter of landscape and decorative still life. Andrew McPherson explodes this view to reveal a modernist whose response to the instabilities and violence of modernity touched universals of human experience. Gillies' idiom was shaped by institutions for artistic production unique to Scotland. But it was the politics of Scotland's connections to the rest of the British Isles that produced his mythic and misleading reputation. New paintings and new meanings are uncovered, placing the micro effects of modernity on mental health, family and community in the wider contexts of war, nationalism and public patronage McPherson also shows how this changing world led Gillies towards new applications of modernist expression Lavishly illustrated and referencing almost one thousand works this major reappraisal is an indispensable source on the cultural politics of a four nation state and the reception of modernism in Britain
