The Globalization of Hate Jennifer Schweppe, Mark Austin Walters, 2016-05-25 The Globalization of Hate

Internationalizing Hate Crime is the first book to examine the impact of globalization on our understanding of hate speech and hate crime Bringing together internationally acclaimed scholars with researchers policy makers and practitioners from across the world it critically scrutinises the concept of hate crime as a global phenomenon seeking to examine whether hate crime can or should be conceptualised within an international framework and if so how this might be achieved Beginning with the global dynamics of hate the contributions analyse whether hate crime can be defined globally whether universal principles can be applied to the phenomenon how hatred is spread and how it impacts upon our global society The middle portion of the book moves beyond the broader questions of globalisation to jurisdictional examples of how globalization impacts upon our understanding of and also our responses to hate crime The chapters explore in greater detail what is happening around the world and how the international concepts of hate crime are being operationalised locally drawing out the themes of globalization and internationalization that are relevant to hate crime as evidenced by a number of jurisdictions from Europe the US Asia and Africa The final part of the book concludes with an examination of the different ways in which hate speech and hate crime is being combatted globally International law internet regulation and the use of restorative practices are evaluated as methods of addressing hate based conflict with the discussions drawn from existing frameworks as well as exploring normative standards for future international efforts Taken together these innovative and insightful contributions offer a timely investigation into the effects of hate crime offering an interdisciplinary approach to tackling what is now a global issue It will be of interest to scholars and students of criminology sociology and criminal justice as well as criminal justice practitioners police officers and policy makers

Urban Politics After Apartheid Sandrine

Gukelberger, 2018-06-13 Urban Politics After Apartheid presents an understanding of gendered urban politics in South Africa as an interactive process Based on long term fieldwork in the former townships 20 years after the end of apartheid it provides an in depth analysis of how activists and local politicians engage with each other Sandrine Gukelberger contributes to the ongoing debate on urban governance by adding a new historicising perspective as an entry point into the urban governance arena based upon the political trajectories of ward councillors and activists Integrating urban governance studies with new perspectives on policy and social movements provides insight on the everyday events in which people engender negotiate and contest concepts policies and institutions that have been introduced under the catch all banner of democracy By conceptualising these events as encounters at different knowledge interfaces the book develops a locus for an anthropology of policy highlighting everyday negotiations in urban politics Urban Politics After Apartheid dissects the social life of policies such as Desmond Tutu's rainbow nation metaphor beyond national symbolism and academic and public discourse that largely portray participation in South Africa to be weak local politicians to be absent and social movements to be toothless tigers. Proving the inaccuracy of these portrayals, this book will be of interest to students and scholars of South African politics, urban studies, political anthropology and political sociology.

Nadira: We Belong To The Earth Nadira Omarjee, 2023-05-31 This book illustrates the ways in which the personal is political in the advancement of decolonising scholarship. It explores the intimacies of coloniality entrenched in the narcissism of coloniality, enabling the system through extraction, subjugation and violence. Pushing back against the narcissism of coloniality, which is framed by the master-slave dialectic or internalised oppression, requires uhuru and ubuntu, which are agentic strategies employed in reclaiming ontology and epistemology. Uhuru insists on a decolonisation of self, whereas ubuntu is determined by African radical communitarianism, demanding new ways of knowing and seeing whilst re-examining epistemicides of the enslaved, indentured and colonised. Fanonian theory is used as a framework for understanding the colonial authority's management of the colonised, determining the unhappiness quintessential in the colonial condition. Freirian concepts of conscientisation and criticality are used as a form of resistance, disrupting the system of racial capitalism and the coloniality of gender. Subsequently, flipping the classroom to resist the coloniality of knowledge allows scholars to connect with community, encouraging engaged scholarship from the personal political perspective, making the classroom a radical space for addressing trauma and healing whilst bridging art, activism and scholarship. Therefore, the classroom is situated against the blind spots of the banking model, with male-dominated decolonial work silencing the feminist perspective. Consequently, uhuru and ubuntu promote voice, agency and resistance as a pedagogical praxis paramount for the development of a decolonial feminist pedagogy.

The Geography of South Africa Jasper Knight, Christian M. Rogerson, 2018-10-03 This edited collection examines contemporary directions in geographical research on South Africa. It encompasses a cross-section of selected themes of critical importance, not only to the discipline of Geography in South Africa but also of relevance to other areas of the Global South. All chapters are original contributions providing a state-of-the-art research baseline on key themes in physical, human and environmental geography and in understanding the changing geographical landscapes of modern South Africa. These contributions set the scene for an understanding of the relationships between modern South Africa and the wider contemporary world, including issues of sustainable development and growth in the Global South.

Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion in Astronomy Jörg Matthias Determann, 2023-11-14 Astronomy is a field concerned with matters very distant from Earth Most phenomena whether observed or theorized transcend human spaces and timescales by orders of magnitude Yet many scientists have been interested not just in the events that have occurred millennia before Earth's inception but also in their very own society here and now Since the first half of the twentieth century an increasing number of them have pursued parallel careers as both academics and activists Besides publishing peer reviewed papers they have promoted a great variety of underrepresented groups within their discipline Through conferences newsletters and social media they have sought to advance the interests of women members of racial and ethnic minorities LGBTQ and disabled people While these activists have differed in the identities they focus on they have come to share a conviction that diversity and inclusion are crucial for scientific excellence as well as social justice In this book you will read of the biographies and institutional contexts of key agents in the diversification of modern astronomy As most are recent figures whose discoveries have not been commemorated by Nobel Prizes they are relatively unknown among historians of science They have however been central to discussions about who has privileged access to the tools of astronomical inquiry including powerful telescopes and extensive databases As such they have also significantly shaped views of our universe

Conflict and Concord Christopher Isike, Efe Mary Isike, 2022-05-10 The book is a response to the dominant discourse of South Africa as unwelcoming to African immigrants Acknowledging the reality of xenophobia against African migrants in South Africa it explores the positive spaces of interactions between South Africans and African migrants that do not necessarily result in tension Hence the book is about conviviality cohabitation interdependency and the production of a multicultural rainbow nation South Africa its constitution and representation as a multicultural society is the perfect context to experiment with the ideas in the book Part of the objectives is therefore to demonstrate as contained in the title the ambivalence of this relationship which the popular discourse of xenophobia has silenced

From Hope to Action through Knowledge Ramesh Bharuthram, Larry Pokpas, 2020-10-27 Its November 2001 A university in dire straits financially bankrupt burdening a debt in excess of R100 million a disillusioned and demoralised staff complement still reeling from the trauma of retrenchments coupled with an academic project facing collapse as student numbers dwindle by a third to less than 10 000 Is there a future for such an institution described by some as a basket case with very bleak prospects of survival This was the landscape that confronted the newly appointed Vice Chancellor and Chief Executive Officer CEO of the University of the Western Cape Fast forward to December 2014 The CEO retires from office bestowing upon his successor a financially sound institution with a flourishing academic project recording unprecedented achievements enriching the lives of more than 20 000 students and widely acknowledged as a research led university This book narrates how visionary leadership with the steadfast belief that your past does not determine your future galvanised an entire organisation into believing that a better outcome was indeed achievable and the will to move forward as a collective with a redefined purpose and commitment to achieve that which was once deemed impossible

Photography and History in Colonial Southern Africa Lorena Rizzo, 2019-09-16 This book studies the relationship between photography and history in colonial Southern Africa using a series of encounters with Southern African photographic archives to reflect on photography as a distinct historical form Through use of private and public archives images produced by African itinerant photographers white settlers and colonial state institutions this book explores the relationship between photography and history in colonial Southern Africa Late nineteenth century Cape Colonial prison albums police photographs from German Southwest Africa African studio portraits identity documents travel permits and passports from the 1920s and 1930s visual studies of whiteness and blackness authored by settler photographers South African dompas photographs from the 1950s and 1960s and aerial photography from the Eastern Cape in the mid twentieth century are examined to highlight the ways in which photographic images cut across conventional institutional boundaries and complicate rigid distinctions between the private and the public the political and the aesthetic the colonial and the vernacular or the subject and the object Photography and History in Colonial Southern Africa argues that rather than understanding photographs as a means of preserving and recreating the past in the present we can value them for how they evoke at once the need for and the limits of historical reconstruction This book will be of interest to students and scholars of colonial history photographic history visual media and African studies

Democracy Disconnected Fiona

Anciano, Laurence Piper, 2018-10-03 Why is dissatisfaction with local democracy endemic despite the spread of new participatory institutions This book argues that a key reason is the limited power of elected local officials especially to produce the City City Hall lacks control over key aspects of city decision making especially under conditions of economic globalisation and rapid urbanisation in the urban South Demonstrated through case studies of daily politics in Hout Bay Democracy Disconnected shows how Cape Town residents engage local rule In the absence of democratic control urban rule in the Global South becomes a complex and contingent framework of multiple and multilevel forms of urban governance FUG that involve City Hall but are not directed by it Bureaucratic governance coexists alongside market developmental and informal forms of governance This disconnect of democracy from urban governance segregates people spatially socially but also politically Thus while the residents of Hout Bay may live next to each other they do not live with each other This book will be a valuable resource for students on programmes such as urban studies political science sociology development studies and political geography

Morning in South Africa John Campbell, 2016-05-12 This incisive deeply informed book introduces post apartheid South Africa to an international audience South Africa has a history of racism and white supremacy This crushing historical burden continues to resonate today Under President Jacob Zuma South Africa is treading water Nevertheless despite calls to undermine the 1994 political settlement characterized by human rights guarantees and the rule of law distinguished diplomat John Campbell argues that the country's future is bright and that its democratic institutions will weather its current lackluster governance The book opens with an overview to orient readers to South Africa's historical inheritance A look back at the presidential inaugurations of Nelson Mandela and Jacob Zuma and Mandela's funeral illustrates some of the ways South Africa has indeed changed since 1994 Reviewing current demographic trends Campbell highlights the persistent consequences of apartheid He goes on to consider education health and current political developments including land reform with an eye on how South Africa's democracy is responding to associated thorny challenges. The book ends with an assessment of why prospects are currently poor for closer South African ties with the West. Campbell concludes though that South Africa's democracy has been surprisingly adaptable and that despite intractable problems the black majority are no longer strangers in their own country.

Cyclones in Southern Africa Godwell Nhamo, David Chikodzi, 2021-05-24. There is evidence that the world has been witnessing more intense tropical cyclones. Accompanying these tropical cyclones are heightened levels of devastation that witness the loss of human life and wildlife, destruction of natural resources and property, and the disruption of major economic and social activities. To this end, there is a growing demand for publications focusing on tropical cyclones at various levels that include regional, national, and local levels, especially from Africa. One sub-region that has been witnessing the harsh realities of the increasing intensity of tropical cyclones in southern Africa. However, within this region, countries are usually impacted at varying degrees of damage. Among the countries that usually encounter the harshness of these tropical cyclones are the Comoros, Botswana, Madagascar, Mauritius, Malawi, Mozambique, Reunion, the Seychelles, South Africa, and Zimbabwe. From the history books, the following tropical cyclones made landfall and hit southern Africa: Eline 2000, Favio 2007, Dineo 2017, Idai 2019, Kenneth 2019, Eliose 2021, and Chalane 2020. Although all these tropical cyclones had negative impacts, it is undoubtedly Tropical Cyclone Idai that shocked the world with its devastation, mainly in Mozambique, Malawi, and Zimbabwe, in March 2019. Key infrastructure was destroyed, livelihoods were lost, and the environment was degraded. Thousands of people died, many more were injured, many remain unaccounted for, and others remained homeless as of the time of finalising this book in February 2021. This book therefore focuses on the devastating impacts of Tropical Cyclone Idai in Zimbabwe. The book interfaces Tropical Cyclone Idai's impacts with the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and some of the 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). This linkage was deliberate given that there is still time remaining until 2030 and the world has generally agreed to move into the future along the pathways of sustainable development and sustainability. The book adds to the first comprehensive profiling of the impacts of tropical cyclones on southern African economies, particularly that of Zimbabwe. It also comes up as the first in a three-volume series. The other volumes to look out for are Cyclones in Southern Africa Vol 2: Foundational and Fundamental Topics and Cyclones in Southern Africa Vol 3: Implications for the Sustainable Development Goals. To this end, this book is suitable as a read for several professionals and disciplines such as tourism and hospitality studies, economics, sustainable development, development studies, environmental sciences, arts, geography, life sciences, politics, planning, and public health.

Cosmopolitan Education and Inclusion Yusef Waghid, Chikumbutso Herbert, Manthala, Judith, Terblanche, Faiq Waghid, Zayd Waghid, 2020-03-10. This book expands understanding of cosmopolitan education that has the potential to cultivate deliberative pedagogical encounters in universities. The authors argue that cosmopolitan education in itself is an act of engaging with strangeness, otherness, difference, and inclusion/exclusion. What follows is the engendering of inclusive human encounters in which freedom and rationality guided by co-operative co-existential and oppositional acts of resistance can be exercised. The chapters centre around the enactment of universal hospitality, unconditional engagement, difference, intercultural learning, democratic justice and openness to develop a robust and reflexive defence of cosmopolitan education. This book will appeal to scholars of cosmopolitan education as well as democratic and inclusive education.
