Enhancing Quality in Higher Education Ray Land, George Gordon, 2013-06-19 Interest in the quality of higher education provision has been steadily increasing over the last twenty years. This has been driven largely by the international creation of explicit policies and reporting requirements to review audit and evaluate provision. The interest is associated in many countries with the granting by governments of greater autonomy to higher education institutions. This crucially comes bound with increased requirements for accountability in the exercise of such power. Enhancing provision promoting innovation, cultivating exploration and adopting information led approaches to practice are at the very heart of higher education. As such, quality enhancement comes in many guises and is under constant scrutiny. Enhancing Quality in Higher Education looks critically at recent developments in higher education, taking snapshots of changing practices around the world and analysing the varied theoretical perspectives of quality enhancement that are emerging. The opening section draws upon this theoretical base, whilst the second section contextualises it through the analysis of a diverse range of international case studies. The concluding section considers future prospects for the enhancement agenda in the light of the international pressures facing all systems of higher education in the future. Policy will inevitably be shaped by the historical contexts within which national systems are located. The book draws on a wide range of international case studies examined by a host of contributing experts. The movement towards quality enhancement can be seen as stimulating action at the grassroots of the academy to self-generate improvement. It is a counter to the prevalent view that change in higher education is essentially about the institutional response to increasing societal pressure and state control and as such is a welcome contribution to the literature. This comprehensive volume is essential reading for anyone involved in higher education and educational policy.

Communication for Nursing and Health Care Professionals Robert J. Meadus, 2023-08-15 According to the Canadian Patient Safety Institute (CPSI), ineffective communication among nurses and health care providers is one of the leading causes of medical errors and patient harm. As they navigate hectic environments and unexpected situations, it is critical for health care professionals to have strong communication tools at their disposal when interacting with patients and colleagues. Communication for Nursing and Health Care Professionals aims to assist health care and nursing students in developing these tools for their professional practice. Using case studies to cover a broad range of scenarios within health care environments, this text emphasizes practical applications of communication concepts and strategies. Designed for undergraduate students in nursing and health studies, the chapters include learning objectives, key terms, end of chapter discussion questions, and a variety of activities to enrich skill building and classroom experience. With a unique focus on the Canadian health care system, this essential text will help foster students' communication skills and effectively prepare them for their practice across professional positions. FEATURES Demonstrates effective communication strategies across a diverse range of patient interactions and scenarios. Employs real world case studies and situations students will encounter in the field.

to illustrate practical applications of communication concepts Includes chapter learning objectives key terms discussion questions student activities and a test bank

Alzheimer's Disease: New Beginnings George Perry,Jesús Avila,Paula I. Moreira,Aaron A. Sorensen,Massimo Tabaton,2018-07-15 Alzheimer s Disease New Beginnings focuses on the future promise for therapeutic breakthroughs in light of notable clinical trial failures The volume editors used a combination of scientometric evaluations to determine the most promising new approaches as well as soliciting insights from leaders in each of the major areas of Alzheimer's disease research. By combining these two approaches they recruited authors from the entire outlook spectrum from those who feel an elusive breakthrough might still be a few well placed tweaks away to those who feel that they are launching entirely new investigative paradigms. These scholars present an open eyed path forward. Now is the most exciting period in this field as old dogmas make way for new insights from new approaches to clinical trials improved biomarker based diagnostics population based studies prevention metabolism to further refinement of the role of inflammation genetics tau and amyloid.

#mm Net Art—Internet Art in the Virtual and Physical Space of Its Presentation Marie Meixnerová (Ed.), 2019-07-19 Color edition. What is Net art? Does its name refer to the medium it uses? Is it the art of the Netizens, the inhabitants of the internet? Is it an art movement or an art form? This book aims to provide a starting point in the search for answers to these and similar questions concerning the existence of Net art. Edited by Marie Meixnerová, a Czech curator and scholar, mm Net Art approaches Internet art as a developing art form through five thematic sections that map the chronological stages of this development. Featured authors include Katarína Rusnáková, Dieter Daniels, Marie Meixnerová, Domenico Quaranta, Natalie Bookchin, Alexei Shulgin, Piotr Czerski, Brad Troemel, Artie Vierkant, Ben Vickers, Jennifer Chan, Gene McHugh, Gunther Reisinger, Matěj Strnad, Lumír Nykl. For those who know little about it, this anthology can serve as an introduction to the expert reader; it offers new and as yet unpublished information and hopefully a new perspective.

Gender Violence & Human Rights Aletta Biersack, Margaret Jolly, Martha Macintyre, 2016-12-14 The postcolonial states of Fiji Papua New Guinea and Vanuatu operate today in a global arena in which human rights are widely accepted As ratifiers of UN treaties such as the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women and the Convention on the Rights of the Child these Pacific Island countries have committed to promoting women s and girls rights including the right to a life free of violence Yet local national and regional gender values are not always consistent with the principles of gender equality and women s rights that undergird these globalising conventions This volume critically interrogates the relation between gender violence and human rights as these three countries and their communities and citizens engage with appropriate modify and at times resist human rights principles and their implications for gender violence Grounded in extensive anthropological historical and legal research the volume should prove a crucial resource for the many scholars policymakers and activists who are concerned about the urgent and ubiquitous problem of gender violence in the western Pacific This is an important and timely collection that is central to the major and contentious issues in the contemporary Pacific of gender violence and human rights It builds upon existing literature but the contributors to this volume interrogate the connection between these two areas deeply and more critically This book should and must reach a broad audience Jacqui Leckie Associate Professor

Anthropology and Archaeology University of Otago The volume addresses the tensions between human and cultural individual and collective rights as played out in the domain of gender Gender is a perfect lens for exploring these tensions because cultural rights are often claimed in defence of gender oppression and because women often have imposed upon them the burden of representing cultural traditions in attire comportment restraint or putatively cultural conservatism And Melanesia is a perfect place to consider these gendered issues because of the long history of ethnocentric representations of the region because of the extent to which these are played out between states and local cultures and because of the efforts of the vibrant women s movements in the region to develop locally workable responses to the problems of gender violence in these communities Christine Dureau Senior Lecturer Anthropology University of Auckland

Greenland in Arctic Security Marc Jacobsen,Ulrik Pram Gad,Ole Wæver,2024-02-13 Greenland has increasingly captivated imaginations around the globe Yet while it is central to the Arctic region its role has been poorly understood Greenland in Arctic Security delivers a comprehensive overview of how security dynamics unfold in and in relation to Greenland Each individual chapter analyzes specific discourses and dynamics pertaining to hard or soft security questions These span from great power interests in geostrategic infrastructure to domestic debates centered on promoting and protecting Greenland identity when engaging with the outside world In addition the book offers perspectives on other security questions that have been catalyzed by the effects of climate change By combining these different analyses Greenland in Arctic Security provides new theoretically informed discussions on how security politics can manifest across different scales and territorial borders At times these politics can have consequences beyond their original intent With Greenland geopolitics and securitization theory of current interest to political and academic debates this book offers timely insights for readers
