Challenges of African Transformation Mammo Muchie, Angathevar Baskaran, 2013-01-29 A brief overview of the African economic picture reveals a paradox where the continent that has rich mineral resources nearly a billion people and a land mass which includes the sizes of China USA India Western Europe Argentina together larger than the sum of these regions is in an unacceptable state of being an object of aid debt and loans despite the vast resources both known and yet to be explored Africa should have been a productive and innovation centre and not a charity and aid centre of the world where donorship has replaced African national ownership of not just Africa's resources but even worse Africa's own agency autonomy and independence to shape policy and direction to undertake African integrated national development by establishing a science engineering and technology based knowledge innovative learning and competent economy The chapters in this volume address the application of the innovation approach to a variety of problems in Africa Together they highlight the critical importance of the innovation systems approach in each of the issues the authors preferred to select and analyse In the African context the application of innovation goes beyond firms to the informal activities at grassroots level The boundaries and the range of actors and activities for innovation application are varied and not limited This variation is represented in this volume by the diverse issues that the authors dealt with in their research by applying as common the use and application of innovation Creating Systems of Innovation in Africa Mammo Muchie, Angathevar

Baskaran, 2013-01-29 The most popularised concept in the economics of innovation literature has been the national system of innovation NSI. It was in the late 1980s that the concept that Frederik List coined as the National Political Economy of Production took off again with different thinkers writing about the peculiarities and distinctions of the Japanese, American, British, German, East Asian Tigers and other varieties of system construction. Freeman defines National System of Innovation as the network of institutions in the public and private sectors whose activities and interactions initiate, import, modify and diffuse new technologies. Richard Nelson defines it as a set of institutions whose interactions determine the innovative performance of national firms. Lundvall defines the system of innovation as the elements and relationships which interact in the production, diffusion and use of new and economically useful knowledge and are either located within or rooted inside the borders of a nation state. The normative assumption is that those nations that succeeded in building economic strength relied on the science, engineering, technology and innovation capability that made them to achieve an innovation advantage to put them ahead in the world, acquiring national or regional economic leadership as the case may be, depending on what level of analyses is selected to look at: particular failure, success or progress they made. In this volume we have a glimpse of how in different African economies from Ghana, Uganda, Kenya, South Africa and Nigeria specific cases have been taken to explore how systems of innovation are evolving.

Innovation For Sustainability Mammo Muchie, Angathevar Baskaran, 2013-12-29 The innovation system theory has to deal with climate change as it generates the intellectual tools to promote development. A unified innovation system theory that integrates the eradication of threats to nature with the promotion of development is critically important to advance an original pedigree and trajectory of epistemology. Africa must learn and appreciate the costs to itself from the way Europe industrialised. It can neither follow nor imitate the European pattern of industrialisation. It has to include in its own development agenda both the meeting of social needs and choosing a path of development that would not bring ecological harm in the process. The African innovation system has to evolve in a nature protecting rather than hurting system. In addition, social needs must be met rather than exacerbating the social inequalities path of development.
