General Notes on Chicago Style

- Chicago style is sometimes referred to as Turabian style, which is a modified version of Chicago style, and which is outlined in A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses, and Dissertations by Kate L. Turabian. Copies of this style manual (7th ed.) are also available at SFU Library.
- Chicago style outlines two distinct citation styles, and this guide covers only the Humanities style:
 - Notes/bibliography style, also known as "Humanities style." Sources are cited through footnotes (or endnotes) and a bibliography
 - Author/date style, also known as "Scientific/Social Sciences style." Sources are cited through parenthetical author/date references in the text and a reference list
- Your paper must be double-spaced. It is conventional to single-space footnotes and bibliographies, leaving a blank line between entries.
- Every page of the paper must be assigned a page number, including blank pages, appendices, and bibliography. Arabic numerals are centered or flush right at the top of the page.
- You need to cite and document any sources that you have consulted, even if you presented the ideas from these sources in your own words. You need to cite:
 - to identify other people's ideas and information used within your essay
 - to inform the reader of your paper where they should look if they want to find the same sources
- A citation must appear in two places in your essay:
 - in the body of your text ("in-text citations")
 - in the Reference List (at the end of your paper)
- To introduce other people's ideas in text, use the following examples:
Richardson argues, refers to, explains, hypothesizes, compares, concludes;
As Littlewood and Sherwin demonstrated, proved, ... etc.
- Webster's Third New International Dictionary and Merriam-Webster's Collegiate Dictionary are the standard spelling references for all Chicago citations (7.1)
- You are responsible for the accuracy of all information in your bibliography.

References in Text: Footnotes and Endnotes (16.19-16.35; 16.59-16.65)

- In Chicago notes/bibliography style, footnotes or endnotes are used to cite quotes, paraphrases, and other in-text references
 - Footnotes are numbered citations listed at the bottom of each page in the research paper
 - Endnotes are numbered citations listed on a single page at the end of the research paper
- To cite a source, a small superscript (raised) number is placed after each in-text reference (16.25). Throughout the paper, these in-text references are numbered in sequential order. For example:

Mooney found that "domestic violence has, since the 1970s, been increasingly recognized as a social problem."¹

Clear and Simple as the Truth Francis-Noël Thomas, Mark Turner, 2011-02-28 For more than a decade Clear and Simple as the Truth has guided readers to consider style not as an elegant accessory of effective prose but as its very heart Francis Noë l Thomas and Mark Turner present writing as an intellectual activity not a passive application of verbal skills In classic style the motive is truth the purpose is presentation the reader and writer are intellectual equals and the occasion is informal This general style of presentation is at home everywhere from business memos to personal letters and from magazine articles to student essays Everyone talks about style but no one explains it The authors of this book do and in doing so they provoke the reader to consider style not as an elegant accessory of effective prose but as its very heart At a time when writing skills have virtually disappeared what can be done If only people learned the principles of verbal correctness the essential rules wouldn't good prose simply fall into place Thomas and Turner say no Attending to rules of grammar sense and sentence structure will no more lead to effective prose than knowing the mechanics of a golf swing will lead to a hole in one Furthermore ten step programs to better writing exacerbate the problem by failing to recognize as Thomas and Turner point out that there are many styles with different standards The book is divided into four parts The first Principles of Classic Style defines the style and contrasts it with a number of others The Museum is a guided tour through examples of writing both exquisite and execrable The Studio new to this edition presents a series of structured exercises Finally Further Readings in Classic Prose offers a list of additional examples drawn from a range of times places and subjects A companion website classicprose.com offers supplementary examples exhibits and commentary and features a selection of pieces written by students in courses that used Clear and Simple as the Truth as a textbook
