Chan, 2010 Placing the Modern Chinese Vernacular in Transnational Literature G. Zhou, 2011-01-31 This is the first book to concentrate not only on the triumph of the vernacular in modern China but also on the critical role of the rise of the vernacular in world literature invoking parallel cases from countries throughout Europe and Asia Contemporary Chinese Literature Y. Huang, 2007-11-26 This book offers a case study of four of the most influential contemporary Chinese writers and cultural bastards Duoduo an underground misty poet Wang Shuo a hooligan writer Zhang Chengzhi an old Red Guard and new cultural heretic and Wang Xiaobo a chronicler of Rabelaisian modern history The Monster That Is History Dewei Wang, 2004-10-04 In ancient China a monster called Taowu was known for both its vicious nature and its power to see the past and the future Since the seventeenth century fictive accounts of history have accommodated themselves to the monstrous nature of Taowu Moving effortlessly across the entire twentieth century literary landscape David Der wei Wang delineates the many meanings of Chinese violence and its literary manifestations Developmental Fairy Tales Andrew F. Jones, 2011-05-02 Jones revises our understanding of modern China by tracing the ways that evolutionary works developed into a form of vernacular knowledge in modern Chinese literature From children's primers to print culture from fairy tales to filmmaking his analysis offers an innovative and interdisciplinary angle of vision on China's cultural evolution Chinese Modern Xiaobing Tang, 2000-04-03 An analysis of the Chinese experience of modernity through the literary works, films and other cultural artifacts that represent it Homesickness Carlos Rojas, 2015-04-06 Carlos Rojas focuses on the trope of homesickness in China, discomfort caused not by a longing for home but by excessive proximity to it. This inverse homesickness marks a process of movement away from the home conceived of as spaces associated with the nation, family and individual body and gives rise to the possibility of long-term health.

Fragmenting Modernisms Carolyn FitzGerald, 2013-07-07 In Fragmenting Modernisms Carolyn FitzGerald traces the evolution of Chinese modernism during the War of Resistance against Japan 1937-45 and Chinese Civil War 1945-49 through a series of close readings of works of fiction, poetry, film and visual art produced in various locations throughout wartime China. Showing that the culture of this period was characterized by a high degree of formal looseness, she argues that such aesthetic fluidity was created in response to historical conditions of violence and widespread displacement. Moreover, she illustrates how the innovative formal experiments of uprooted writers and artists expanded the geographic and aesthetic boundaries of Chinese modernism far beyond the coastal cities of Shanghai and Beijing. Liberal Cosmopolitan Qian Suoqiao, 2011 This book is a cross-cultural critique on the problem of the liberal cosmopolitan in modern Chinese intellectuality in light of Lin Yutang's literary and cultural practices across China and America. It points to the desirability of a middling Chinese modernity. Women, War, Domesticity Nicole Huang, 2005-03-01 In December 1941, the fifth year in an all-scale cataclysmic Sino-Japanese war that devoured much of Eastern China, the city of Shanghai entered into an era of full occupation. This was the moment when a group of young women authors began writing and soon took over the cultural scene of the besieged metropolis. Women, War, Domesticity reconstructs cultures of reading, writing and publishing in the city of Shanghai during the three years and eight months of Japanese occupation. It specifically depicts the formation of a new cultural arena initiated by a group of women who not only wrote, edited and published but also took part in defining and transforming the structure of modern knowledge, discussing it in various public forums surrounding the print media and consequently promoting themselves as authoritative cultural commentators of the era. The Avant-Garde and the Popular in Modern China Liang Luo, 2014-07-15 Provides a new perspective on the Chinese avant-garde through the figure of artist and activist Tian Han. Buglers on the Home Front Yunzhong Shu, 2000-03-10 The first book-length study in English of an important but neglected school of dissident Chinese writers active around the time of the war against Japan 1937-45. Remapping China Gail Hershatter, 1996 These stimulating essays address such topics as histories of public health, emotional life, law and sexuality, notions of borders and frontiers, the relationship between native place identities and nationalism, the May Fourth Movement and the periodization of the Chinese revolution. Propaganda Hailong Liu, 2019-11-21 Propaganda is subjective information primarily used to influence an audience and further a political agenda. In China it has a long history but has been most effective in modern society. What exactly is propaganda? Why does it exist and why does the public tolerate it The book answers these questions by tracing back to the emergence and development of integrated propaganda and scientific propaganda On this basis it focuses on the emergence of propaganda concept in China the establishment of Kuomintang and the Communist Party of China s propaganda concept intellectuals and propaganda the debate on the propaganda concept in China after 1949 as well as the emergence of Propaganda 3 0 that coordinates integrated propaganda and scientific propaganda Setting propaganda in the framework of modernity the book explains how various groups have legitimized propaganda since the 20th century From a reasonable and neutral standpoint the author describes the confrontation among various propaganda concepts and discourses displaying a panorama of the mutual conflicts between nations and individuals control and freedom ideas and bodies Not only will scholars and students studying journalism and communication find this book interesting but professionals working in journalism advertising public relations and publicity will also find it engaging and enlightening

The Coming Death Richard F. Calichman, 2022-02-01 The Coming Death explores the question of death and mortality in several key texts of East Asian literature and cinema By exposing the specific fields of Japanology and Sinology to the more general discourse of thanatology Richard Calichman aims to define death more expansively on the basis of loss and disappearance Typically death is understood to be purely separate from life where death is life is not and where life is death is not Yet this view fails to account not only for the frequency with which living individuals encounter the death of others but also and far more radically for the disturbing fact that life in its unfolding remains at each moment open to the possibility of its own destruction In this regard Calichman argues death must be conceived not simply as an actual event but even more fundamentally as a general possibility without which life itself could not develop At issue is how death reveals the emptiness of all identity which demands that life and death no longer be conceived as purely oppositional If mortal death can appear at the very origin of life then the fullness or presence of life is at each instant threatened by the possibility of its negation Through a reading of the works of such major artistic and intellectual figures as Kurosawa Akira Tsai Ming liang Lu Xun and Takeuchi Yoshimi The Coming Death argues for a fundamental rethinking of mortality
