Giving you nothing but the best poems and quotes all around the world plus you can now follow us on Twitter Instagram TheKasiBox www.thekasibox.co Poetless Poetry HRISHIKESH GOSWAMI, 2024-05-17. This book of poetry is quite different from other poetry books because of the miscellany in the themes of the verses that you will get to see in this one particular book. The verses here will range from very intense and varied themes and will together aim to reinforce you emotionally, psychologically, and perceptually. You will come across poems having subtle touches of love, romance, or heart break, but concurrently you will find verses that hum along with nature, mystery, and occultisms. Incarnation, Again Elizabeth Harlan-Ferlo, 2022-09-30. In her debut collection Elizabeth Harlan Ferlo depicts coming of age in a clergy household with playful and reverent ambivalence. The poems wrestle with sacred texts, family life, and sexuality with equal intimacy. Whether encountering the Eucharist, a cremation, or the red light district, or literature, these poems can't stop asking questions about living in a body. Parallax Julia Kolchinsky, 2025. Finalist 2025 Miller Williams Poetry Prize. Julia Kolchinsky's Parallax offers a lyrical narrative of parenting a neurodiverse child under the shadow of the ongoing war in Ukraine, the poet's birthplace. As her child expresses a fascination with death and violence, Kolchinsky struggles to process the war unfolding far away on the same soil where so many of her ancestors perished during the Holocaust. Anchored by a series of poems that look to the moon, this collection explores displaced perspectives and turns to the celestial to offer meditations on how elements formed in distant stars account for so much of our human DNA. In these poems, writes series editor Patricia Smith, Kolchinsky clutches at a feeling of home that is both unfamiliar and deeply treasured, longs for all that was left behind, struggles to come to terms with the rampant violence devastating a landscape that still in so many encouraging and heartbreaking ways belongs to her. Touch the Earth Drew Jackson, 2023-01-10. Reflecting on the Gospel of Luke through poetry, Drew Jackson continues the project he began in God Speaks Through Wombs, picking up in Luke chapter nine. Part protest poetry, part biblical commentary, this collection of poems helps us hear the hum of deliverance, presenting the gospel story in all its liberative power. Proceedings of the International Conference on Learning and Advanced Education (ICOLAE 2022) Mauliy Halwat Hikmat, Yasir Sidiq, Naufal

The Ferguson Report: An Erasure Nicole Sealey, 2023-08-15 A NEW YORKER BEST BOOK OF THE YEAR A meditation on our times cast through a reconsideration of the Justice Department's investigation of the Ferguson Police Department In August 2014 Michael Brown a young unarmed Black man was shot to death by a police officer in Ferguson Missouri What followed was a period of protests and turmoil culminating in an extensive report that was filed by the Department of Justice detailing biased policing and court practices in the city It is a document that exposes the racist policies and procedures that have become commonplace from disproportionate arrest rates to flagrant violence directed at the Black community It is a report that remains as disheartening as it is damning Now award winning poet Nicole Sealey revisits the investigation in a book that redacts the report an act of erasure that reimagines the original text as it strips it away While the full document is visible in the background weighing heavily on the language Sealey has preserved it gives shape and disturbing context to what remains Illuminating what it means to live in this frightening age and what it means to bear witness The Ferguson Report An Erasure is an engrossing meditation on one of the most important texts of our time

Picking Birches Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening The Road Not Taken and Mowing as well as lesser known poems such as The Draft Horse The Ax Helve The Bonfire Dust of Snow A Cabin in the Clearing The Cocoon and Pod of the Milkweed are renewed by fresh and original readings that show why and how these poems pay tribute to their distinguished sources Frost's insistence that Emerson and Thoreau were the giants of nineteenth century American letters is confirmed by the many poems variously influenced that derive from them His attitude toward Emily Dickinson however was more complex and sometimes less generous In his twenties he molded his poetry after hers But later after he joined the faculty of Amherst College he found her to be less a benefactor than a competitor Monteiro tells a two stranded tale of attraction imitation and homage countered by competition denigration and grudging acceptance of Dickinson's greatness as a woman poet In a daring move he composes out of Frost's own words and phrases the talk on Emily Dickinson that Frost was never invited to give In showing how Frost's work converses with that of his predecessors Monteiro gives us a new Frost whose poetry is seen as the culmination of an intensely felt New England literary experience

The Legacy of a Singular Life Julia L. George, 2009-07-27 Legacy of a Singular Life is a compilation of the poetry essays and stories of Miss H. Almeda Boulton If she loved anything it was nature the innocence of trees the joy of the bird the mischief of a squirrel the mystery of weather the history of the rock or mountains and seas She lived her life watching recording what she saw into her quick inquisitive mind Her poetry relates her observations without the frills of romanticism or obscurity and rings with a clear truth Circumstances set her apart from relationships she craved Those few she regarded as enduring were taken from her at various times in her life Her strict independence was founded upon the realization that only one person was completely and absolutely trustworthy herself This was not a selfish condition It was all she knew She would be amazed to know her writings are of interest There is much to learn from them and her thoughts and philosophies are valuable lessons to be taught to all generations She died at the great age of 96 Her closest and most endearing kin was Mother Nature She rests in the sanctuary of the arms of Mother Earth with her treasured ancestors in Caro MI May God grant her peace and respite She lived a rewarding and abundant life with fearless exuberance
