The Atlantic World D'Maris Coffman, Adrian Leonard, William O'Reilly, 2014-12-05 As the meeting point between Europe colonial America and Africa the history of the Atlantic world is a constantly shifting arena but one which has been a focus of huge and vibrant debate for many years In over thirty chapters all written by experts in the field The Atlantic World takes up these debates and gathers together key original scholarship to provide an authoritative survey of this increasingly popular area of world history The book takes a thematic approach to topics including exploration migration and cultural encounters In the first chapters scholars examine the interactions between groups which converged in the Atlantic world such as slaves European migrants and Native Americans The volume then considers questions such as finance money and commerce in the Atlantic world as well as warfare government and religion The collection closes with chapters examining how ideas circulated across and around the Atlantic and beyond It presents the Atlantic as a shared space in which commodities and ideas were exchanged and traded and examines the impact that these exchanges had on both people and places Including an introductory essay from the editors which defines the field and lavishly illustrated with paintings drawings and maps this accessible volume is invaluable reading for all students and scholars of this broad sweep of world history

Water Worlds: Human Geographies of the Ocean Dr Jon Anderson, Dr Kimberley Peters, 2014-02-28 Our world is a water world Seventy percent of our planet consists of ocean However geography has traditionally overlooked this vital component of the earth's composition The word geography directly translates as earth writing and in line with this definition the discipline has preoccupied itself with the study of terrestrial spaces of society and nature This book challenges human geography's preoccupation with the terrestrial investigating the terra incognita of the seas and oceans Linking to new theoretical debates shaping the geographic discipline such as affect assemblage emotion hybridity and the more than human this volume unlocks new knowledge concerning the human geographies of ocean space The book casts adrift stable bounded and fixed conceptions of space and advances geographical understanding based on the world as becoming changing mobile and processional This ontology supports the notion that the oceans are not simply fluid in a literal way but also in a conceptual sense suggesting that the seas have their own fluid natures their own capacities and agencies which are co-fabricated with social and cultural life This book features twelve chapters authored by key academics contributing to this growing field of research The book is divided into three sections including an Introduction by the editors and a foreword by Prof Philip E Steinberg the leading scholar in the field of maritime geographies The first section of the book considers the ways in which different watery spaces from the Atlantic Ocean to the Mediterranean Sea have been conceptualized theorized and known through metaphors voyages of discovery and scientific endeavour The second section examines how oceans are experienced through various activities including driving on water kayaking in water and diving under water The final section explores the relations between human life and the nature of the sea as a material mobile and more than human space examining the influences of the ocean on the migratory practices of fishermen in Senegal to the more than human geographies of the contemporary scallop industry the historical journeys of steam ship companies and the pirate radio enterprise Oceans are fundamental to the workings of the world as we know it Critical human activities take place at sea including trade tourism migration scientific exploration and resource exploitation The water world is therefore significantly entwined with our everyday lives This book offers a novel and important contribution to an ever emerging cross disciplinary subject matter

Europe and the British Geographical Imagination, 1760-1830 Paul Stock, 2019-10-03 Europe and the British Geographical Imagination 1760 1830 explores what literate British people understood by the word Europe in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries Was Europe unified by shared religious heritage Where were the edges of Europe Was Europe primarily a commercial network or were there common political practices too Was Britain itself a European country While intellectual history is concerned predominantly with prominent thinkers Paul Stock traces the history of ideas in non elite contexts offering a detailed analysis of nearly 350 geographical reference works textbooks dictionaries and encyclopaedias which were widely read by literate Britons of all classes and can reveal the formative ideas about Europe circulating in Britain ideas about religion the natural environment race and other theories of human difference the state borders the identification of the centre and edges of Europe commerce and empire and ideas about the past progress and historical change By showing how these and other questions were discussed in eighteenth and nineteenth century British culture Europe and the British Geographical Imagination 1760 1830 provides a thorough and much needed historical analysis of Britain s enduringly complex intellectual relationship with Europe

Protestant Empires Ulinka Rublack, 2020-09-10 Protestantism during the early modern period is still predominantly presented as a European story Advancing a novel framework to understand the nature and impact of the Protestant Reformations this volume brings together leading scholars to substantially integrate global Protestant experiences into accounts of the early modern world created by the Reformations to compare Protestant ideas and practices with other world religions to chart colonial politics and experiences and to ask how resulting ideas and identities were negotiated by Europeans at the time Through its wide geographical and chronological scope Protestant Empires advances a new approach to understanding the Protestant Reformations Showcasing selective model approaches on how to think anew and pointing the way towards a multi national and connected account of the Protestant Reformations this volume demonstrates how global interactions and their effect on Europe have played a crucial role in the history of the long Reformation in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries The African Diaspora Toyin Falola, 2013 The African diaspora is arguably the most important event in modern African history From the fifteenth century to the present millions of Africans have been dispersed many of them forcibly others driven by economic need or political persecution to other continents creating large communities with African origins living outside their native lands The majority of these communities are in North America This historic displacement has meant that Africans are irrevocably connected to economic and political developments in the West and globally Among the known legacies of the diaspora are slavery colonialism racism poverty and underdevelopment yet the ways in which these same factors worked to spur the scattering of Africans are not fully understood by those who were part of this migration or by scholars historians and policymakers In this definitive study of the diaspora in North America Toyin Falola offers a causal history of the western dispersion of Africans and its effects on the modern world Reengaging old and familiar debates and framing new ones that enrich the discourse surrounding Africa Falola isolates the thread running nearly six centuries that connects the history of slavery the transatlantic slave trade and current migrations A boon to scholars and policymakers and accessible to the general reader the book explores diverse narratives of migration and shows that the cultures that migrated from Africa to the Americas have the capacity to unite and create a new pan Africanist movement within the globalized world Toyin Falola is the Jacob and Frances Sanger Mossiker Chair in the Humanities and University Distinguished Teaching Professor at the University of Texas at Austin He is the 2011 recipient of the Distinguished Africanist Award from the African Studies Association and serves as the vice president of the International Scientific Committee of the UNESCO Slave Route Project His previous books published by the University of Rochester Press include The Power of African Cultures and Nationalism and African Intellectuals Johann Reinhold Forster and the Making of Natural History on Cook's Second Voyage, 1772-1775 Anne Mariss, 2019-09-09 James Cook's voyages of exploration are a turning point not only in the history of the British Empire but also in the history of science and exploration of the Pacific The last decades have seen a wide ranging scholarly interest in Cook's voyages focusing on their impact on European and Polynesian societies their scientific results and their protagonists such as Cook himself or the nobleman Joseph Banks who took part in Cook's first voyage of exploration This book examines the hitherto underestimated role of the German scholar Johann Reinhold Forster who together with his son Georg Forster accompanied Cook on his second voyage of exploration 1772-1775 as a principal naturalist For a long time the German traveler has remained a rather shadowy figure of Cook's voyages of exploration and has only attracted scholarly attention occasionally Focusing on the making of knowledge onboard the ship and the islands where it made landfall the study provides a historical reappraisal of Forster s scientific performance as a leading naturalist of his time By examining Forster s Resolution Journal Anne Mariss takes a microhistorical approach toward the making of natural history knowledge during the expedition to the Pacific Mariss unveils the difficulties the traveling naturalists encountered while collecting describing classifying and painting the natural world Her study brings to light the contribution of the various actors who were involved in this undertaking such as the scientific assistants sailors officers and the local actors of the Pacific world

The Maritime World of Early Modern Britain Richard Blakemore, James Davey, 2025-10-01 Britain's emergence as one of Europe's major maritime powers has all too frequently been subsumed by nationalistic narratives that focus on operations and technology This volume by contrast offers a daring new take on Britain's maritime past It brings together scholars from a range of disciplines to explore the manifold ways in which the sea shaped British history demonstrating the number of approaches that now have a stake in defining the discipline of maritime history The chapters analyse the economic social and cultural contexts in which English maritime endeavour existed as well as discussing representations of the sea The contributors show how people from across the British Isles increasingly engaged with the maritime world whether through their own lived experiences or through material culture The volume also includes essays that investigate encounters between English voyagers and indigenous peoples in Africa and the intellectual foundations of imperial ambition Scripts of Blackness Noémie Ndiaye, 2022-09-20 Scripts of Blackness shows how the early modern mass media of theatre and performance culture at large helped turn blackness into a racial category that is into a type of difference justifying emerging social hierarchies and power relations in a new world order driven by colonialism and capitalism In this book No mie Ndiaye explores the techniques of impersonation used by white performers to represent Afro diasporic people in England France and Spain in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries using a comparative and transnational framework She reconstructs three specific performance techniques black up cosmetic blackness blackspeak acoustic blackness and black dances kinetic blackness in order to map out the poetics of those techniques and track a number of metaphorical strains that early modern playtexts regularly associated with them Those metaphorical strains the titular scripts of blackness of this book operated across national borders and constituted resources as they provided spectators and participants with new ways of thinking about the Afro diasporic people who lived or could would ultimately live in their midst Those scripts were often gendered and hinged on notions of demonization exclusion exploitation animalization commodification sexualization consensual enslavement misogynoir infantilization and evocative association with other racialized minorities Scripts of Blackness attempts to grasp the stories that Western Europeans told themselves through performative blackness and the effects of those fictions on early modern Afro diasporic subjects The Scientific Revolution in Global Perspective William E. Burns, 2016 This is the first book to put the scientific revolution its causes and effects in a global context It breaks with the Eurocentric tradition of previous scientific revolution surveys to fully reimagine the emergence of modern science as a process on a world scale It has maps that for the first time situate the scientific revolution geographically Provided by publisher Early Modern Europe, 1450-1789 Merry E. Wiesner-Hanks, Merry E. Wiesner, 2013-02-21 Thoroughly updated best selling textbook with new learning features This acclaimed textbook has unmatched breadth of coverage and a global perspective Early Modern Europe, 1450-1789 Merry E. Wiesner, 2006-03-06 Accessible engaging textbook offering an innovative account of people s lives in the early modern period Program of the ... Annual Meeting of the American Historical Association American Historical Association. Meeting, American Historical Association, 2002 Some programs include also the programs of societies meeting concurrently with the association Maritime Musicians and Performers on Early Modern English Voyages James Seth, 2025-10-01 Maritime Musicians and Performers on Early Modern English Voyages aims to tell the full story of early English shipboard performers who have been historically absent from conversations about English navigation maritime culture and economic expansion Often described reductively in voyaging accounts as having one function in fact maritime performers served many communicative tasks Their lives were not only complex but often contradictory Though not high ranking officers neither were they lower ranking mariners or sailors They were influenced by a range of competing cultural practices having spent time playing on both land and sea and their roles required them to mediate parties using music dance and theatre as powerful forms of nonverbal communication Their performances transcended and breached boundaries of language rank race religion and nationality thereby upsetting conventional practices improving shipboard and international relations and ensuring the success of their voyages

Turns of Event Hester Blum,2016-04 American literary studies has undergone a series of field redefinitions that have been described as turns whether transnational aesthetic or affective Turns of Event Nineteenth Century American Literary Studies in Motion argues that the propensity of the field to reinvent itself without dissolution is one of its greatest strengths

The Unnatural Trade Brycchan Carey,2024-08-27 A look at the origins of British abolitionism as a problem of eighteenth century science as well as one of economics and humanitarian sensibilities How did late eighteenth century British abolitionists come to view the slave trade and British colonial slavery as unnatural a dread perversion of nature Focusing on slavery in the Americas and the Caribbean in particular alongside travelers accounts of West Africa Brycchan Carey shows that before the mid eighteenth century natural histories were a primary source of information about slavery for British and colonial readers These natural histories were often ambivalent toward slavery but they increasingly adopted a proslavery stance to accommodate the needs of planters by representing slavery as a natural phenomenon From the mid eighteenth century abolitionists adapted the natural history form to their own writings and many naturalists became associated with the antislavery movement Carey draws on descriptions of slavery and the slave trade created by naturalists and other travelers with an interest in natural history including Richard Ligon Hans Sloane Griffith Hughes Samuel Martin and James Grainger These environmental writings were used by abolitionists such as Anthony Benezet James Ramsay Thomas Clarkson and Olaudah Equiano to build a compelling case that slavery was unnatural a case that was popularized by abolitionist poets such as Thomas Day Edward Rushton Hannah More and William Cowper

Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of captivating stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a masterful and gripping novel that will keep you wondering until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
