Gridlock Thomas Hale, David Held, Kevin Young, 2013-07-11 The issues that increasingly dominate the 21st century cannot be solved by any single country acting alone no matter how powerful To manage the global economy prevent runaway environmental destruction reign in nuclear proliferation or confront other global challenges we must cooperate But at the same time our tools for global policymaking chiefly state to state negotiations over treaties and international institutions have broken down The result is gridlock which manifests across areas via a number of common mechanisms The rise of new powers representing a more diverse array of interests makes agreement more difficult The problems themselves have also grown harder as global policy issues penetrate ever more deeply into core domestic concerns Existing institutions created for a different world also lock in pathological decision making procedures and render the field ever more complex All of these processes in part a function of previous successful efforts at cooperation have led global cooperation to fail us even as we need it most Ranging over the main areas of global concern from security to the global economy and the environment this book examines these mechanisms of gridlock and pathways beyond them It is written in a highly accessible way making it relevant not only to students of politics and international relations but also to a wider general readership Reckoning

Day Jacqueline Foertsch, 2013-08-30 Too often lost in our understanding of the American Cold War crisis with its nuclear brinkmanship and global political chess game is the simultaneous crisis on the nation's racial front Reckoning Day is the first book to examine the relationship of African Americans to the atom bomb in postwar America It tells the wide ranging story of African Americans response to the atomic threat in the postwar period It examines the anti nuclear writing and activism of major figures such as W E B Du Bois Rev Dr Martin Luther King Jr and Lorraine Hansberry as well as the placement or absence of black characters in white authored doomsday fiction and nonfiction Author Jacqueline Foertsch analyzes the work of African American thinkers activists writers journalists filmmakers and musical performers in the atomic decades of 1945 to 1965 and beyond Her book tells the dynamic story of commitment and interdependence as these major figures spoke with force and eloquence for nuclear disarmament just as they argued unassailably for racial equality on numerous other occasions Foertsch also examines the placement of African American characters in white authored doomsday novels science fiction and survivalist nonfiction such as government sponsored forecasts regarding post nuclear survival In these black characters are often displaced or absented entirely in doomsday narratives they are excluded from executive decision making and the stories often triumphant conclusions in the nonfiction they are rarely envisioned amongst the typical American survivors charged with rebuilding US society Throughout Reckoning Day issues of placement and positioning provide the conceptual framework abandoned at ground zero America s inner cities during the height of the atomic threat African Americans were figured in white authored survival fiction as compliant servants aiding white victory over atomic adversity while as historical figures they were often perceived as elsewhere indifferent to the atomic threat In fact African Americans position on the bomb was rarely one of silence or indifference Ranging from appreciation to disdain to vigorous opposition atomic era African Americans developed diverse and meaningful positions on the bomb and made essential contributions to a remarkably American dialogue

Beyond The Call Lee Trimble, Jeremy Dronfield, 2016-02-02 Near the end of World War II thousands of Allied ex POWs were abandoned to wander the war torn Eastern Front modern day Ukraine With no food shelter or supplies they were an army of dying men The Red Army had pushed the Nazis out of Russia As they advanced across Poland the prison camps of the Third Reich were discovered and liberated In defiance of humanity the freed Allied prisoners were discarded without aid The Soviets viewed POWs as cowards and regarded all refugees as potential spies or partisans The United States repeatedly offered to help recover their POWs but were refused With relations between the allies strained a plan was conceived for an undercover rescue mission In total secrecy the OSS chose an obscure American air force detachment stationed at a Ukrainian airfield it would provide the base and the cover for the operation The man they picked to undertake it was veteran 8th Air Force bomber pilot Captain Robert Trimble With little covert training already scarred by the trials of combat Trimble took the mission He would survive by wit courage and a determination to do some good in a terrible war Alone he faced up to the terrifying Soviet secret police saving hundreds of lives At the same time he battled to come to terms with the trauma of war and find his own way home to his wife and child One ordinary man One extraordinary mission A thousand lives at stake This is the compelling inspiring true story of an American hero who laid his life on the line to bring his fellow men home to safety and freedom Include photos

The American School, 1922 The Emergence of Geophysics: A Journey into the Twentieth Century R.J. Howarth, 2024-12-02 How did geophysics begin Who were the pioneers of this new science What instruments did they devise to measure the Earth related phenomena they were interested in This Memoir attempts to answer such questions in a well illustrated and largely non technical account The seventeenth century saw magnetism used as an aid to prospecting for iron ore in Sweden and Isaac Newton's derivation of the law of gravitational attraction. A gradually increasing interest in physics of the Earth brought forth the new discipline of geophysics in the early nineteenth century and by the end of the following century airborne and satellite based investigations had become routine. The Emergence of Geophysics explores this evolution in several parallel strands: terrestrial magnetism and electricity, gravity, seismicity, heat, geodynamics and radioactivity, broadly reflecting the timing of their introduction as tools aiding geophysical studies. Biographical information is included for many of its practitioners and the book should be of interest to both geophysicists and to anyone interested in the history of Earth science. Spying from the Sky Robert L.

Richardson, 2020-03-31 The must read story of America's first high altitude aviation program and one of its pilots Francis Gary Powers Jr. William Greg Gregory was born into a sharecropper's life in the hills of North Central Tennessee. From the back of a mule drawn plow, Greg learned the value of resilience and the importance of determined living. Refusing to accept a life of poverty, he found a way out: a work study college program that made it possible for him to leave farming behind forever. While at college, Greg completed the Civilian Pilot Training Program and was subsequently accepted into the US Army's pilot training program. Earning his wings in 1942, he became a P-38 combat pilot and served in North Africa during the summer of 1943, a critical time when the Luftwaffe was still a potent threat and America had begun the march northward from the Mediterranean into Europe proper. Following the war, Greg served with a B-29 unit, then transitioned to the new, red-hot B-47 strategic bomber. In his frequent deployments, he was always assigned the same target in the Soviet Union: Joseph Stalin's hometown of Tbilisi. While a B-47 pilot, Greg was selected to join America's first high altitude program, the Black Knights. Flying RB-57D aircraft, he and his team flew peripheral ferret missions around the Soviet Union and its satellites, collecting critical order of battle data desperately needed by the US Air Force at that time. When the program neared its design end and following the Gary Powers shoot down over the Soviet Union, Greg was assigned to command of the CIA's U-2 unit at Edwards AFB. Over this five year command, he and his team provided critical overflight intelligence during the Bay of Pigs, the Cuban Missile Crisis, the Vietnam buildup and more. He also became one of the first pilots to fly U-2s off aircraft carriers in a demonstration project. Spying from the Sky is the in-depth biography of William Gregory, who attended the National War College, was assigned to the reconnaissance office at the Pentagon and was named vice commandant of the Air Force Institute of Technology (AFIT) before retiring from the force in 1972. The Illustrated London News, 1852 Belle of the

Brawl Gary A. Best, 2011-11-30 This wartime biography follows the life of a Second World War B-17 bombardier from the beginning of the war to its conclusion. Based on the 150 letters the airman Fred Lull wrote home to his mother, much of the horrors of what he experienced off the wing of his plane—aircraft destroyed, dismemberment by flak—go unshared. Fred did not want his mother to worry and could not tell her, "I noticed some movement and a flash of light out of the corner of my right eye. The plane that had been flying right next to us had exploded and simply disappeared." Using the bombardier's combat
