Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Commerce, Justice, Science, and Related Agencies,2016 Education in a New Society Jal Mehta,Scott Davies,2018-04-26 In recent decades sociology of education has been dominated by quantitative analyses of race class and gender gaps in educational achievement And while there s no question that such work is important it leaves a lot of other fruitful areas of inquiry unstudied This book takes that problem seriously considering the way the field has developed since the 1960s and arguing powerfully for its renewal The sociology of education the contributors show largely works with themes concepts and theories that were generated decades ago even as both the actual world of education and the discipline of sociology have changed considerably. The moment has come they argue to break free of the past and begin asking new questions and developing new programs of empirical study. Both rallying cry and road map, Education in a New Society will galvanize the field.

Race, Education, and Reintegrating Formerly Incarcerated Citizens John R. Chaney, Joni Schwartz, 2017-07-18. This timely readable text offers an authoritative and balanced analysis of how racially driven policies in America impact post release education as a leading pathway to social reintegration. Compelling research findings from an assemblage of college faculty, seasoned administrators, and criminal justice professionals are interwoven with first person narratives from formerly incarcerated individuals. This book takes full advantage of its interdisciplinary mixture of voices and positionality to build its argument upon a three part framework from Critical Race Theory (CRT). It convincingly utilizes the tools of academic research, counterstories, and counterspaces to make a persuasive case that the intersection of race, the criminal justice system, and education represent one of the greatest civil rights issues of our time.

Part 1: Context. Critical Race Theory and College Re Entry explores the historical and current dynamics of these uniquely American intersections while linking Critical Race Theory with the field of re entry and offering serious analysis of post incarceration and education initiatives. Interest, convergence, white privilege, and writing from returning citizens as a way of coming to voice are also explored in this section.

Part 2: Counterstories. Offers case comparative case and phenomenological studies that include embedded quotations with first person narratives contributed from formerly incarcerated students and graduates. This section also includes an honest and gripping analytic auto ethnography from the book's co editor who readily reveals his experiences as both a faculty member and formerly incarcerated individual. Other highlighted topics include the issues of stigma, overcoming obstacles in the classroom, and the unique problems for returning citizens when acclimating to college culture. Combining qualitative research and descriptions of successful programs.

Part 3: Counterspaces. Explores the dynamics of creating places within programs and classrooms that support physical, emotional, spiritual, and intellectual engagement for and with the formerly incarcerated through learner centered, culturally sensitive, and racially explicit pedagogy. This book is designed to be a most welcome addition to any serious academic discussion focusing upon institutionalized racism and education's use as a tool in reversing the mass incarceration of people of color in America.

Confronting Oppressive Assessments Walter S. Polka, John William McKenna, 2016-09-14. This book is about doing what's right for public education in the United States in this age of intensive curriculum convergence, planned instructional standardization, and oppressive accountability procedures. Information is presented about why and how educators, parents, students, community members, and policy makers have decided to protest against current state and federal educational policies and procedures. The practical experiences of parents, teachers, principals, school superintendents, school board members, and professors are analyzed in chapters of this book. Their first hand experiences with the various components of the current reform movement are poignantly presented Through their voices the frustrations with the serious flaws associated with this reform agenda are passionately and logically articulated They comprehensively explain their personal and professional motivations for organizing and fomenting a rethinking in school reform implementation procedures and they advocate their smarter approach to school reforms in our country The book includes key references that elucidate the need to seriously re think the directions and strategies of contemporary schooling in order to maintain enlightened creative instruction based on exciting student centered curriculum experiences and professional educational judgments
