The Population Structure of Vegetation J. White,2013-11-09 The Handbook of Vegetation Science is growing After the first volumes under my editorship have appeared the interest of the scientific community has been revived and many new volume editors have started their work The present volume was jointly designed by Drs J White and W Beetsink Due to unforeseen developments Dr White signs now as the sole editor The development of this volume within the series had a special history as Dr White points out in his preface Adding to this I need only to state that I found it essential to include the topic of this volume into a Handbook of Vegetation Science It was included therefore in my first revised list of topics to be included in the Handbook when I took over from Dr T xen It is a great pleasure for me to see this volume appear Having read through the many contributions to this volume I can certainly congratulate Drs White and Beetsink for their success in generating so much interest in this volume among their colleagues The cooperation on this volume is forme the first sign that the new concept of the Handbook has been understood by the generation of scientists which I have to address The influence this volume will have on the field of plant population studies only time can tell It appears to me however that this volume will become a standard resource for some future Dr White asked me to have this volume dedicated to Dr Rabotnov

The Matter of Violence in Baroque Painting Bogdan Cornea, 2025-10-01 Baroque depictions of violence are often dismissed as over the top and excessive Their material richness and exciting visual complexity together with the visceral engagement they demand from beholders are usually explained in literature as reflecting the presumed violence of early modern society This book explores the intersection between materiality excess and violence in seventeenth century paintings through a close analysis of some of the most iconic works of the period Baroque paintings expose or reference their materiality by insisting on various physical changes wrought through violence This study approaches violence as the work of materiality which has the potential to analogously stage pictorial surfaces as corporeal surfaces where paint becomes flayed flesh canvas threads ruptured skin and red paint spilt blood

Authorizing Early Modern European Women James Fitzmaurice, Naomi Miller, Sara Jayne Steen, 2025-10-01 The essays in this volume analyze strategies adopted by contemporary novelists playwrights screenwriters and biographers interested in bringing the stories of early modern women to modern audiences It also pays attention to the historical women creators themselves who be they saints or midwives visual artists or poets and playwrights stand out for their roles as active practitioners of their own arts and for their accomplishments as creators Whether they delivered infants or governed as monarchs or produced embroideries letters paintings or poems their visions the authors argue have endured across the centuries As the title of the volume suggests the essays gathered here participate in a wider conversation about the relation between biography historical fiction and the growing field of biofiction that is contemporary fictionalizations of historical figures and explore the complicated interconnections between celebrating early modern women and perpetuating popular stereotypes about them
