thematically dealing with the central areas of medieval women's lives and their relation to social and cultural institutions. Each section is contextualised with a brief historical introduction and the materials span literary, historical, theological, and other narrative and imaginative writing. The writings here uncover and confound the stereotype of the medieval woman as lady or virgin by demonstrating the different roles and meanings that the sign of woman occupied in the imaginative space of the medieval period. Larrington's clear and accessible editorial material and the modern English translations of all the extracts mean this work is ideally suited for students. Women and Writing in Early Europe: A Sourcebook also contains an extensive and fully up to date bibliography making it not only essential reading for undergraduates and post graduates but also a valuable tool for scholars. Roget's Thesaurus of English Words and Phrases Christopher Orlando Sylvester Mawson, 2010

Inclusive Language Michele Saraiva Carilo, 2025-02-10 Inclusive Language: Educating for Sociolinguistics Agency within the Language Learning Classroom analyses standardised and non standardised uses of language that can be considered acts of sociolinguistic revolution from across a range of social media platforms. Using examples from French, Italian, Portuguese, and Spanish, the book explores how linguistic inclusiveness related to race, ethnicity, religion, gender, the LGBTQIA community, and people with disabilities is a bottom up phenomenon led mainly by members of marginalised socio-cultural groups disseminated widely throughout social media and integrated or disregarded consciously in language classrooms. Inclusive Language challenges the extreme prescriptivism of the languages analysed and contributes to the advancement of inclusive language within the language learning classroom by proposing frameworks such as critical digital ethnography for curriculum development and enactment guidelines for syllabus and material design as well as teaching strategies based on critical and intercultural pedagogies. The book is a valuable resource for language educators and students at undergraduate and graduate level education courses with a particular interest in language teaching. The Library of William Andrews Clark, Jr. Modern English Literature, 1920

Jean de Saintre Antoine de La Sale, 2014-04-22 Written in 1456 and purporting to be the biography of the actual fourteenth century knight of its title, Jean de Saintr has been called the first modern novel in French and one of the first historical novels in any language. Taken in hand at the age of thirteen by an older and much more experienced lady, Madame des Belles Cousines, the youth grows into an accomplished knight winning numerous tournaments and even leading a crusade against the infidels for the love of Madame. When he reaches maturity, Jean starts to rebel against Madame's domination by seeking out chivalric adventures on his own. She storms off to her country estates and takes up with the burly abbot of a nearby monastery. The text moves into darker and uncourtly territory when Jean discovers their liaison and lashes out to avenge his lost love and honor, ruining Madame's reputation in the process. Composed in the waning years of chivalry and at the threshold of the print revolution, Jean de Saintr incorporates disquisitions on sin and virtue, advice on hygiene and fashion, as well as lengthy set pieces of chivalric combat. Antoine de La Sale, who was by turns a page, a royal tutor, a soldier, and a judge at tournaments, embellished his text with wide-ranging insights into chivalric ideology, combat techniques, heraldry, and warfare, and the moral training of a young knight. This superb translation, the first in nearly a hundred years, contextualizes the story with a rich introduction and a glossary and is suitable for scholars, students, and general readers alike. An encyclopedic compilation of medieval culture and a window into the lost world of chivalry, Jean de Saintr is a touchstone for both the late Middle Ages and the emergence of the modern novel.
