Then as only a teacher and mentor can he opens up those important meanings for today Maximus the Confessor Paul M. Blowers, 2016-02-04 This study contextualizes the achievement of a strategically crucial figure in Byzantium's turbulent seventh century the monk and theologian Maximus the Confessor 580-662 Building on newer biographical research and a growing international body of scholarship as well as on fresh examination of his diverse literary corpus Paul Blowers develops a profile integrating the two principal initiatives of Maximus's career first his reinterpretation of the christocentric economy of creation and salvation as a framework for expounding the spiritual and ascetical life of monastic and non-monastic Christians and second his intensifying public involvement in the last phase of the ancient christological debates the monothelete controversy wherein Maximus helped lead an East-West coalition against Byzantine imperial attempts doctrinally to limit Jesus Christ to a single divine activity and will devoid of properly human volition Blowers identifies what he terms Maximus's cosmo-politeian worldview a contemplative and ascetical vision of the participation of all created beings in the novel politeia or reordered existence inaugurated by Christ's new theandric energy Maximus ultimately insinuated his teaching on the christiformity and cruciformity of the human vocation with his rigorous explication of the precise constitution of Christ's own composite person In outlining this cosmo-politeian theory Blowers additionally sets forth a theo-dramatic reading of Maximus inspired by Hans Urs von Balthasar which depicts the motion of creation and history according to the christocentric plot or interplay of divine and creaturely freedoms Blowers also amplifies how Maximus's cumulative achievement challenged imperial ideology in the seventh century the repercussions of which cost him his life and how it generated multiple recontextualizations in the later history of theology Monasticism in Eastern Europe and the Former Soviet Republics Ines Angeli Murzaku, 2015-08-27 This book looks at Eastern and Western monasticism's continuous and intensive interactions with society in Eastern Europe Russia and the Former Soviet Republics It discusses the role monastics played in fostering national identities as well as the potentiality of monasteries and religious orders to be vehicles of ecumenism and inter-religious dialogue within and beyond national boundaries Using a country-specific analysis the book highlights the monastic tradition and monastic establishments It addresses gaps in the academic study of religion in Eastern European and Russian historiography and looks at the role of monasticism as a cultural and national identity-forming determinant in the region The Way of a Pilgrim, 2001 Following this Russian pilgrim is the path to discovering an ancient method of prayer The prayer of the heart is a spiritual practice that produces joy inner peace and a heart brimming over with love for all creation This delightful account is the story of one man who sets out to learn the prayer of the heart also known as the Jesus prayer and how the practice transforms his existence Its anonymous author was one of the wandering pilgrims who were a regular feature of the Russian countryside from medieval times up until the early twentieth century Through his eyes we get a charming look at rural life in nineteenth-century Russia and with him we discover the secret to putting into practice the words of St Paul Pray without ceasing This SkyLight Illuminations edition guides you through an abridged
